Calls for Re-Reading
Of Testimony by
Erich Glaser

SCANS LETTERS

Johanna Hofmann and Otto Voss are Found Guilty

New York—(U)—The federal jury which convicted a man and woman on espionage charges called for a re-reading today of testimony by Erich Glaser, 28, a third defendant, about whom the jurors were unable to agree.

The jury also asked to see letters written by Glaser, a former United States Army corps private, to Guenther Gustav Rummich, 32, confessed German agent, who testified against him.

Unaided by the German war ministry officials she was charged with serving, titian-tressed, 26-year-old Fraulein Johanna Hofmann went back to her jail cell weeping to await a possible maximum sentence of 20 years.

Convicted with her was Otto Hermann Voss, German-born mechanic who was seized in a strategic Long Island airplane factory last month in the "industrial" with Fraulein Hofmann and 19 others, charged with espionage.

GOVERNOR-ELECT STUDIES BUDGET REQUESTS

Republican Governor-Elect Julius P. Heil, who has shown that he intends to be rough and tough in keeping down departmental appropriations, is shown here with James Borden, state budget director, as he ponders the myriad requests of dozens of state departments for funds to carry them through the next biennium. Borden got an impromptu reappointment from the new governor at the first budget hearings at Madison this week. Preliminary reports show that the aggregate of departmental budget requests will be higher than the $76,500,000 budget which the LaFollette administration approved two years ago, and which was the highest ever.

The governor, his personal and legislative advisors, and state departmental officials will resume budgetary discussions at the capital this morning. The long meetings will continue through most of December in preparation for the passage of the budget bill, which the executive is supposed to submit to the legislature before Jan. 1, state journal.

Wilson to Stay Away at Present From Berlin Post

Roosevelt is Awaiting Development Before Resuming Relations

Washington—(U)—The administration is waiting for a development before resuming relations with Germany, according to a report from Berlin. The report states that the German government is waiting for a response from the United States before making any further moves.

Italian Deputies In Demonstration

Chase Foreign Minister
Refers to Tunisia, French Protectorate

Foreign Minister touched off a noisy demonstration today in the chamber of deputies for the recognition of Italian interests in Tunisia, African protectorate, and a long review of regional events by reference to the necessity of "protecting" the firmness of the international aspirations of the black-uniformed 78-year-old chamberlain, leaped to their feet "Tunisia! Tunisia!" Fascist Secretary Achille Starace demonstrated.

political circles regarded the demonstration as a start of a new campaign to obtain from France a voice in the administration of Tunisia, if not its transfer to Italy.

Interpreting the complete absence of any mention of France in the hour-long speech, followed by the deputies' shouts, as an indication of strong feeling against the French, the chamberlain interpreted the complete absence of any mention of France in the hour-long speech, followed by the deputies' shouts, as an indication of strong feeling against the French.

Disorderly Conduct Trial Is Adjourned

Milwaukee—(U)—Trial of 23 persons charged with disorderly conduct during a demonstration during a German-American Citizens' Alliance meeting Oct. 30 was adjourned indefinitely today in district court. The delay resulted from the city's action in circuit court seeking to restrain defense counsel from advising examining policemen before a court commissioner. A hearing on the circuit court action is scheduled for Friday afternoon.

Too Good' Radio Reception Blamed for Plane Disaster; Search Resumed for 5 Bodies

San Francisco—(U)—In the churning surf off Point Reyes, the gloomy search was resumed today for the bodies of four men and a young woman who met death yesterday through a strange, new hazard to aviation.

Officials gravely studied the queer phenomenon of "too good" radio reception which so confused the pilot of a Seattle-San Francisco United Airlines plane he became lost and had to bring the transport down at sea when it ran out of gasoline. One said the phenomenon had occurred just three times, and never before had caused an accident.

Added to the grief of the five victims' families was the knowledge that had the plane occupants remained in the cabin instead of scrambling to the top of the fuselage "for safety," they probably would have reached shore without injury. The cabin of the wrecked and battered airliner was dry when it was finally washed ashore. The pilot and one passenger survived.

The survivors are Captain Charles Stead, 42, veteran pilot who gave a full and harrowing account of the tragedy, and passenger Edward Edgerton, 51, paroled Washington state convict bound for Honolulu to begin a new life.

Dispatched to the scene by the civil aeronautics authority in Washington was a board of inquiry headed by Thomas O. Hardin, member of the C.A.A. safety board.

New Officers Take Charge of Fox River Mills

Transfer of Paper Company Properties Completed Today

SEEK NEW MARKETS

E. A. Oberweiser President and General Manager of New Firm

The transfer of the buildings, machinery, waterpower, goodwill and other assets of the Fox River Paper company was completed this morning to the Fox River Paper corporation.

New officers, headed by E. A. Oberweiser, as president and general manager, took over the operation of the plants today and the mills will be reopened Thursday morning. The plants were closed since Thanksgiving day for the final inventory and transfer.

M. E. Roberts, formerly of Chicago, is executive vice president, R. F. Bellack, Kenesh, is vice president; D. E. Oberweiser, a son of the president, is treasurer; and William Roberts, son of M. E. Roberts, secretary.

William C. Wing, president of the Fox River Paper company for more than 20 years, retires from the paper company industry with the transfer. William C. Wing, Jr., was vice president of the firm.

The purchase of the Fox River properties was made Sept. 12 and the intervening time was spent ironing out details of the transfer.

Plan Sales Drive

Mr. Bellack said today the new officers primarily are sales and merchandising men and will seek new markets to build up the corporation's business.

"We also are working on product improvements but at present we do not contemplate any change in the types of paper being made in Fox River mills," he said.

He said that the new officers intend no change in personnel and that the plants will be operated as before until increased business warrants a change. Previous to Thanksgiving, the mills were running two or three days a week.

The transfer involves the Fox River mills, the Tetrahedron mill, the former Patten Paper company property, which will be used for storage purposes, and all the water rights owned by the Fox River Paper company.

The company has been one of the largest manufacturers of rag content paper in the United States and is one of the major papermill properties in Wisconsin. Employment is given to more than 400 persons and the company's market reaches from coast to coast.

State and Local Units Face Added Burdens as WPA Rolls are Slashed

Madison—(U)—Removal of 5,000 persons from state WPA rolls in December, with expected additional reductions in January and February, will throw an increased burden on state and local relief units, the public welfare department said today.

The WPA will be cut next month from 84,943 to 79,900 employees in compliance with a presidential order that present appropriations must last until March, welfare officials said. Under the order, current employment is too high.

"Only a rapid and perhaps improbable expansion in private employment can prevent the return of thousands of needy cases to relief rolls," welfare heads declared.

Under present trends, they said, there are an increasing number of eligible persons who have not been assigned to WPA jobs. The largest proportionate general relief populations are in the industrial counties such as Milwaukee, Kenosha and Racine, and in the northern areas. They said industrial expansion will take up slack in the southeast, but not in the north.

The average monthly grant per relief case—$7.75—was $18.69 in June and $18.54 in September.

Large German Plane Ends Flight to Tokio

Tokio—(U)—A four-motored German Condor plane landed here at 10:40 p. m. (7:40 a. m. C. S. T.), after a 8,375-mile goodwill flight from Berlin. The official flying time was 41 hours 24 minutes.

Armed Force Used To Smash General Strike in France

Milk Dealers Ask For Elimination Of Price Increase

Producers Agree to Plan. Agricultural Commissioners Told

The state department of agriculture held a public hearing at the courthouse yesterday afternoon on a petition of milk dealers in the Appleton and Kenesh-Menasha areas asking for elimination of a clause in the milk order of June 15 which increased the price of butterfat for fluid milk 3 cents per pound effective as of Nov. 1.

Testimony was given to show that the producers have agreed to the elimination of the clause, and considerable part of the hearing was spent in a discussion of dairy industry problems including dealer prices to grocers on milk and cream and bottle charges.

Harry Jack, head of the board of agriculture; Ed Malchesky, member of the board; and R. M. Orchard, attorney for the department, were in charge of the hearing. Jack said that the board will consider the dealers' request at a meeting Thursday.

Dairy Competition

Following the hearing Jack discussed the problem of competition facing the dairy industry and said that "increased competition must be met by increased consumption."

He outlined a dairy advertising program and declared that the industry will seek to increase consumption.

New Deal Heads Seek Labor Peace

Want Unity in Face of Efforts to Revise Wagner Act

Washington—(U)—Administration officials, with an eye on the impending congressional battle over revising the Wagner act, are trying to bring organized labor's warring factions back to the peace conference table this winter.

A high official of the Roosevelt administration, who declined to be quoted by name, said today new negotiations before spring were the goal of current efforts to end the three-year-old strife between the CIO and the A. F. of L.

One usually well informed CIO union official predicted presidential intervention before Jan. 1.

But an A. F. of L. leader expressed opinion President Roosevelt would talk with John L. Lewis of the CIO and President William Grover of the federation separately before publicly supporting any proposal to settle the conflict.

Many politicians and labor experts believe labor peace would avert a tug of war by union partisans over changes in the Wagner labor relations act.

There have been widespread demands in industry and among anti-administration congressmen for its modification and for curtailment of the powers of the national labor board.

The federation wants the act revised to provide greater protection for its craft unions in collective bargaining relations. It contends the labor board has favored the CIO.

Body of Third Hunter Taken From Flowage; Fourth Still Missing

Mercer, Wis.—(U)—Searchers yesterday recovered the body of the third of four hunters who drowned in the Turtle river flowage near here a week ago.

The body, identified as that of Kaare Dreyer, 38, of Wauwatosa, Wis., was found near the spot where the hunters' boat overturned.

Last Friday the flowage gave up the bodies of Dreyer's two companions, Clyde C. Bleel, 40, of Wauwatosa, and Stephen J. Mangold, of Kaukauna, Wis. The body of their guide, Eddie Polachek of Park Falls, Wis., has not been recovered.

Accountant Is Given 3 Prison Sentences

Milwaukee—(U)—With a warning that persons in position of public trust must be honest, Municipal Judge Max W. Nohl today sentenced Walter H. Ebert, school board accountant, who confessed stealing $15,000 in school funds, to a minimum of 10 1/2 years in state prison.

Judge Nohl imposed three sentences, to run consecutively. All were based on Ebert's pleas of guilty. They provided for a maximum of 15 years' imprisonment.

Ebert told the court he first became involved financially when he and a relative purchased a flat building for $14,000. After that, he added, he "got into bad company" and kept on going.

Detective Lawrence Bailey testified Ebert spent much of the stolen money on a Wausau, Wis., woman.

Pontiff in Cryptic Comment on 'Things Threatening' Him

Vatican City—(U)—Pope Pius XI spoke cryptically today to 600 newly-married couples, a Vatican news service reported, of "certain things which threaten" him.

The 81-year-old pontiff, whose life the world feared for after he suffered a heart attack last Friday, urged his hearers to pray for his "greater grace" in spiritual exercises with which he is occupied this week.

The newlyweds received in the Vatican consistory hall indicated they were mystified by his reference to menacing things. The news service quoted him as saying:

"Pray that our exercises may be truly graced—spiritual fruit for our souls and for the souls which fraternize with ours—and it will be a great advantage for us since we can and must recall and recommend to your prayers some particular objects which before the exercises we did not have because we did not know certain things which are happening and which threaten us."

Though pale and visibly feeble, the 81-year-old pontiff spoke for 11 minutes on the duties of married life. His voice was audible, however, only to those in the front rows of the small hall near his own apartments.

Reich Police Get Authority to Keep Jews From Streets

Order Provides 'Legal Basis' for Yesterday's Decree

Berlin—(U)—The government carried its sweeping anti-Jewish campaign a step further today with the publication of an order empowering the police to tell German Jews when they may or may not leave their homes and where they may or may not go.

The regulation appeared in the Reichs Gesetzblatt (official gazette) under the heading, "Police Order Regarding the Appearance of Jews in Public."

It was explained that the order provided a "legal basis" for yesterday's decree forbidding Jews to appear on the streets during "light hours" on the day of national solidarity, Dec. 3.

The regulation declared that "the proper provincial police departments" may forbid German Jews or Jews without nationality to appear in definite districts or to leave their homes at definite times. Violations will be punishable by fines up to 150 marks ($60) or imprisonment up to six weeks.

Require Cards

Dec. 3 is the day authorities collect money on the streets for the winter relief fund.

The Jews of Germany, already deprived of economic and social privileges, are hastening now to comply with one of the most drastic measures in the long line of decrees to distinguish them from the rest of the population—a requirement for special identification cards.

The cards, compulsory by the end of the year, must carry as first names the government-prescribed Israel for Jewish men, and Sarah for women.

Indications Jews would be deprived of radios was seen, meanwhile, in a court decision that they might be taken to pay debts. Radios otherwise cannot be seized, since they are regarded as an important instrument for spreading government news. The court held Jews are not Germans and there is no public interest in keeping them informed.

Dr. Emil Hacha New President of Czechs

Prague, Czechoslovakia—(U)—Dr. Emil Hacha, formerly head of the supreme court administration, was elected third president of Czechoslovakia by the national assembly meeting in parliament house today.

Being the only candidate, his election was mere formality.

The late Thomas G. Masaryk was first president of the republic. Dr. Eduard Benes, Masaryk's protégé who succeeded him, resigned after the Munich session of Sudetenland to Germany.

Rudolph Beran, a deputy and agrarian party leader who was Benes' opponent for 20 years, will be the new premier. He was expected to pursue a completely pro-German course.

Sales Resumed for Short Time at Yards

Chicago—(U)—Sales were resumed for a brief period at the Chicago stockyards today under an agreement with striking CIO handlers.

Approximately 4,000 animals, stranded in the pens during the stalemate, were led to the weighing chutes.

The temporary truce covered trading in these cattle, hogs and sheep only. It was arranged to allow commission men to clear the corals.

Officer of Large Labor Group Admits Defeat

500 ARE JAILED

Day Termed Resounding Triumph for Daladier Regime

Paris—(U)—By a nationwide array of armed force Premier Daladier today quickly broke the 24-hour general strike which constituted organized labor's first big challenge to his government and its economic program.

The stocky premier, whose enemies have accused him of dictatorial ambitions, met the issue head on.

Inside of a few hours there was nothing left of the movement, directed by the powerful General Confederation of Labor, except isolated partial strikes in some private industries, dock workers' strikes in some ports and a few street car strikes.

Leon Jouhaux, secretary-general of the confederation, issued an implied admission of defeat in a statement in which he said that "there was a total halt of two hours in the Paris bus and subway services but the (government's) requisition order and use of military force we do not deny have brought a resumption of work."

Troopers Are Out

Jouhaux declared that "among dockers the strike was total for the big ports" and that although workers in nationalized industries and government ministries responded to the requisition order they did not work when they got to their posts.

Mobile guards, police and in many cases army units were in abundant evidence to prove the premier's determination to smash the labor demonstration against his decree laws.

In cases where active opposition was shown trouble-makers were hustled off to police stations.

Approximately 500 arrests were made in the Paris district and several dozen arrests were reported from other points.

Members of parliament branded the day a fiasco for labor and a resounding triumph for Daladier and his government.

It was predicted that Daladier would have a majority when parliament meets again next month, with support from the right and his own radical-socialist party.

Order Revoked

The first big break in the strikers' front came at 8 o'clock a. m. (2 a. m. C. S. T.) four hours after the strike began, when the subway workers' union in Paris conceded defeat and revoked its strike order.

After some early morning hesitation public service workers in Paris turned to work.

Two Oshkosh Children Suffocated During Fire

Oshkosh—(U)—Two small children suffocated yesterday when fire damaged the second floor of the Henry Pownell home.

Billy Pownell, 4, and his 2-year-old sister, Nellie, were taking their afternoon naps in an upstairs bedroom when the blaze, of undetermined origin, started.

Mrs. Pownell, who was downstairs with her year-old infant, was working and did not smell smoke at once. When her attention was attracted, flames and smoke at the top of the stairs prevented her from reaching the other children.

Firemen who made their way into the bedroom found the two youngsters dead.

World at Crossroads. Secretary of State Says in Canal Zone

Cristobal, C. Z.—(U)—Secretary of State Hull said today the world was at a crossroads, with one course leading to peace and the other to war and anarchy.

He issued a statement of greeting on his arrival here on the S. S. Santa Clara, enroute to the Pan-American conference at Lima, Peru.

"I am confident that the coming meeting at Lima," his statement said, "will be a constructive factor in favor of the first course (peace) which is the way of the American republics."

"At this focal point of inter-American communications by sea and air and land, we can not but be impressed by the natural opportunities offered to all of us for a highly profitable interchange. This interchange is not only that of trade, but the more important exchange of ideas, culture and friendship."

Hull added that Panama "may well stand as a symbol of that inter-American solidarity which is assuming ever greater significance and importance to all of us."

His plans for the day called for a train trip across the isthmus to Panama City in order to call on President Arce of Panama.

Lowest Traffic Toll in History Seen for Nation

October Twelfth Consecutive Month to Show Decline

Chicago—The best automobile safety record in the nation's history was envisioned for 1938 by the National Safety Council today. October marked the twelfth consecutive month in which the number of traffic deaths declined.

"If this reduction rate can be maintained," the council said, "the 1938 traffic toll will be approximately 8,500 below last year—the first drop since 1932 and the greatest in the nation's history."

The council announced a nationwide campaign to cut the December traffic toll. Police chiefs and other public officials were asked to step up traffic enforcement, and to post officers at night clubs and other public places during the holiday season to dissuade drinking drivers from taking the wheel.

Traffic deaths in October totaled 3,130, the fewest for that month in 10 years with the exception of 1932. The total was 23 per cent under that of October, 1937, and represented a saving of 949 lives.

6,760 Fewer Fatalities

The council figured the reduction in traffic deaths for the first 10 months of 1938 represented a saving of 6,760 lives compared with 1937 statistics. If the reduction continued through December the 1938 death total would approximate 31,000.

Gains could not be attributed to decrease in travel, the council said, inasmuch as mileage figures for the first nine months of 1938 showed a drop of only one-tenth of 1 per cent. Travel declined 3 per cent in September compared with the same month last year but traffic deaths fell 21 per cent.

Pennsylvania recorded the greatest advance during the first 10 months this year, reducing traffic deaths 40 per cent compared with the same period last year. The council figured the reduction at 826 lives. Michigan was second with a 36 per cent drop, representing a saving of 611 lives.

Leading Communities

Cities recorded a 25 per cent drop in October for a better showing than the nation as a whole. Providence, R. I., led all cities with more than 250,000 population with a reduction of 71 per cent for the first 10 months of 1938.

Everett, Mass., population 49,800, was the nation's largest city with a perfect record of no deaths for 10 months. Seventy-one smaller cities had identical records.

Cities which achieved the lowest traffic death rates for the 10 month period included:

Over 500,000 population: Milwaukee, 5.2 per 100,000; Boston, 5.1; St. Louis, 5.5.

250,000 to 500,000: Providence, 4.2; Dallas, 8.6; Louisville, 8.7.

100,000 to 250,000: New Bedford, Mass., 3.5; Utica, N. Y., 5.6.

50,000 to 100,000: Evansville, Ind., 1.8; East Orange, N. J., 3.4; Newton, Mass., 3.5.

25,000 to 50,000: Everett, Mass., Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Elgin, Ill., all perfect records.

10,000 to 25,000: Wausau, Wis., Gloucester, Mass., and Beloit, Wis., all perfect records.

Educators Ask State Pay Larger Share of Costs

Find Local Communities Are Paying 81 Per Cent of Bill

Madison—The Wisconsin Education association suggested today that the state should pay a larger share of the cost of operating Wisconsin's school system.

In an analysis based on statistics of the Wisconsin Tax Commission the association found that local communities paid 81 per cent of the state's $48,000,000 educational bill in 1938, which was some $8,000,000 higher than in 1934. About $5,000,000 less than in 1931, cost.

The association noted that the state's 19 per cent contribution in 1938 was 3 per cent higher than two years ago, but declared the average of state educational support for the nation was 23 per cent. Only 15 states, the association said, pay a smaller share of school costs from state sources than does Wisconsin.

"The trend is more and more toward state support of education," the association said, "and other states have demonstrated that a state-supported system of education is more equitable to taxpayers than a system of education which derives a major part of its support from property taxes. There is no doubt that the property taxpayer in Wisconsin needs, and deserves relief. State support of schools, based upon statewide taxation, is the best way to lessen the tax load now placed on real property."

Hour Provisions of Act are Criticized

Washington—Representative Ramspeck (D-Ga.), criticizing hour provisions of the wage-hour act as "inflexible," suggested today it might be advisable to exempt all persons in higher wage brackets.

He said he did not know where the dividing line should be fixed. He recommended that the house labor committee review both the wage-hour and Wagner labor relations acts to see whether they might be improved.

Mosley Reveals His Marriage of 2 Years Ago; Father of Son

London—Sir Oswald Mosley, British fascist leader, announced today in his newspaper, Action, that he married Mrs. Diana Guinness, Nazi-admiring daughter of Baron Redesdale, two years ago and that a son was born to them last Saturday.

Two days ago Sir Oswald issued a statement that he had not been in Germany for over two years, thus denying London newspaper reports that he had married blonde Mrs. Guinness in Munich or Berlin last December with Adolf Hitler and other high Nazi officials present.

Mrs. Guinness is a sister of Unity Freeman-Mitford, a close friend of Hitler. She obtained a divorce from Bryan Guinness in 1933.

Sir Oswald's first wife was Lady Cynthia Blanche Curzon, daughter of the late Marquess Curzon of Kedleston and granddaughter of the late Lord Z. Leiter of Chicago. She died in 1933.

Glenn Frank in Chairman's Role At Heil Inaugural

LaFollette's Arch Enemy Will Preside at Republican Jollification

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Capital observers today detected strong traces of irony in the circumstances which this week led to the selection of Glenn Frank of the Republican national program committee as master of ceremonies at the inauguration of Julius P. Heil as governor on January 2 at the capitol.

For the appointment of the deposed University of Wisconsin president can only appear to the general public to be an eloquent commentary on the fact that fortune's wheel spins swiftly in politics.

Frank will be the leading man at the inaugural festivities which will mark the involuntary retirement of a man who unceremoniously retired him from the highest paying job on the state payroll just two years ago. He will preside over the Republican cheering section which will make Governor Philip F. LaFollette plain Mr. LaFollette.

It is idle to speculate, however, on the probability that Frank will return to the university presidency after he returns to the capitol. The best informed persons in Madison scoff at such reports, and similar rumors that LaFollette, who will still control a majority of the university's board of regents, is interested in the chair for himself.

Meanwhile the signs showed this week that the victorious C. O. P. intends to make the Heil inauguration a major event. Special trains from Milwaukee, the Fox River Valley centers, and other urban sections will bring thousands of party men to Madison to attend the inaugural ceremonies on January 2, party chieftains report.

A coterie of Milwaukee industrialists friends of the new governor will comprise the honorary inauguration committee. The oath of office will be administered to Mr. Heil and incoming officers by Chief Justice Marvin B. Rosenberry of the state supreme court, who has sworn in a Republican governor since 1928.

Inauguration ceremonies will begin at 12 o'clock noon in the capitol rotunda. The general public will be invited to all functions and no special invitations will be issued, according to plans. The whole affair will be simple and Governor Heil has requested that no inaugural ball be held, it is said.

'Too Good' Radio Causes Disaster

everybody now already knows was the cause of the accident."

"The poor pilot just got so many short wave stations he couldn't sort them out," the official said. "The Oakland airport did send out instructions to clear the air until the plane got its correct bearing, but it was too late then, for he was already far off his course, with gasoline fast dwindling."

"It was one of those perfect nights when every radio signal was coming in strong," explained Pilot Stread. "You could have called a friend in Australia and recognized his voice. Portland and Salt Lake were coming in stronger than Sacramento. There was such a hodgepodge of radio beam signals we couldn't pick out our own to follow."

Only a few minutes before the landing did the passengers learn they are in danger. Stewardess Brenda "Bobby" Clay, who was among those to perish, told them they were in a danger. Stewardess gaily landing on the water and advised taking off hats and shoes.

"We all went through the hatch," related Edelstein, "and I helped some up onto the top of the ship. I sat along side the pilot. He was a fine man. Once, a wave pushed me into the water and I yelled for help. He reached down and pulled me up. Everybody else went off before the pilot and I went into the water. We swam ashore. It was a tough swim, but we made it. I don't know just how."

U. W. Entrants Second In Judging Contests

Chicago—The University of Wisconsin entrants won ribbons in both the hog and sheep judgments at the International Livestock Exhibition yesterday.

The university won second place awards in breeding Shropshire, ewe lambs, and in the hog division sweepstakes, 10 barrows on the hoof, with Poland-Chinas.

Theodore J. Griswold of Livingston, Wis., placed first in the reserve champion steer class, 750 and under 875 pounds, with his Short-horn entry.

Milk Dealers Ask For Elimination Of Price Increase

dustries must work out its own problems. Under the plan, he said, 50 cents is to be paid for each 1,000 pounds of butterfat that goes into the cheese factory. When 50 per cent of the factories are signed up under the program or $100,000 provided for, the huge advertising program will go into effect, he explained.

Educate Public

The consuming public, he said, must be educated to the value of good dairy products which are made in Wisconsin. He went on to say that the farm program has "sold the dairy industry down the river" and that reciprocal trade treaties are making the United States a dumping ground for world surpluses.

Dealers testified that canned milk is being sold in ever increasing quantities, and Jack said that the dairy industry must take steps to meet this competition and that of dairy substitutes.

Orchard said that the milk control law will go out of existence after 1939 and that only through efforts of the producers and dealers will another one be passed. The majority of those present at the hearing indicated they would favor another milk control law.

Malchesky discussed the dairy problems briefly and said that a stabilization tax may be the way out. In this way a small tax on butterfat would bring enough revenue to buy up surplus dairy products and thus provide a means of holding dairy prices at a fair level, he said.

Effective Dec 1

H. L. Gear of the Gear Dairy company, Menasha, said that under the order of the department the 3-cent increase on the price was to become effective on Nov. 1, but under an agreement made last June, the dealers were to be given an opportunity to request a change provided conditions did not improve. He added that conditions are no better now if not worse than they were last May and June.

C. C. Folkes, manager of the Fairmont Creamery company, said the 3-cent raise was put into the order because of a feed shortage that raised feed prices for farmers. However, there was an abundance of feed later and the farmer's cost of production has gone down while dealer costs have gone higher, he testified.

Amos Page, secretary of the Fox River Valley Cooperative Producers association, testified that the producers have agreed that continuation of the 55-cent price will be satisfactory. He added, however, that the production costs of the producer are now lower.

Attention then turned to the grocer and the price he pays for bottled milk from the dealer, G. A. Lemke, Appleton grocer, said that the grocer now receives but a 1-cent profit on a quart of milk and that this margin ought to be 2 cents. He also objected to the small margin of profit on cream. Dealers are operating at a loss at this margin when overhead is considered, he said.

Small Profit

James Piette, another local grocer, also objected to the small profit margin on milk and cream for the grocer and said that it is the reason that the grocer doesn't promote the sale of bottled milk. Sale of canned milk brings more profit, he said.

Grocers, it was said, would not object to a bottle charge provided their margin of profit was larger and the dealers also applied the bottle charge to customers.

Walter Hensel, dealer, said that bottle losses are much greater through store transactions than with regular delivery customers. The loss on store bottles is about 20 per cent, he said.

H. V. Schaefer, Appleton grocer, said that creation of the bottle exchange which permits the consumer to turn in the bottle to any milkman has been a cause of greater bottle loss. They get their milk and don't return the bottle, giving the explanation that they turn them in to the milkman, he said.

Asked whether elimination of half pint bottles of milk and cream might promote greater consumption, the dealers said that few sold outside of those delivered to restaurants and schools. According to the law, it was pointed out, res-

Appleton Artists Exhibit Drawings

Three Graduates, One Senior of High School Get Recognition

Three 1938 graduates of Appleton High school and one senior have compositions in the traveling art exhibits which the Binney and Smith art supplies company sponsors each year. The student artists are James Van Ryzin, Walter Nissen, and Lorraine Junge, all members of the June, 1938, class, and Bob Bodemer, now enrolled as a senior.

According to Peter Giovannini, art instructor, Appleton High school received rare recognition when the sponsor accepted the work of four students for the usual limit has been three. Each year the Binney and Smith company invites the high schools throughout the nation to send compositions to a national exhibit held at Rockefeller center in New York. Ordinarily a school is represented by the work of no more than three students.

From the entire showing, 200 of the most outstanding compositions are selected to be sent on for exhibition in Boston and Washington, D. C. Appleton was the only school to have all of its compositions included in this restricted group, which is being sent out for exhibition to all the major cities of the country.

TOWNSENDERS TO MEET

Kimberly Legion Prepares For Its Christmas Party

Kimberly—Santa Claus will appear at the clubhouse Friday evening, Dec. 23, during a short program which will be presented by pupils of the public and Holy Name schools. He will give each child a bag of candy and nuts. The program, which is scheduled to start at 6:30 in the evening, will again be sponsored by William Verhagen Post, No. 60, of the American Legion, its auxiliary, the village board, and the Booster club.

During a similar program last year about 1,200 bags of candy were distributed by Santa and his helpers. Preparations will be made for a larger number this year. In order to obtain candy from Santa it will be necessary for children to have tickets which will be given out at the schools.

The older child of the family in school will receive enough tickets for his younger brothers and sisters. Parents whose children are too young to attend school, may secure their tickets from George McElroy. A loud speaker will be installed in the clubhouse that evening so that contacts may be made with Santa as he progresses.

The local firemen and police officers will maintain order during the program and watch the exits so that they are not blocked in case of emergency. The huge tree in front of the clubhouse will be lighted with colorful lights.

The local legion post is planning a party at the clubhouse Sunday afternoon and evening, Dec. 18. At a meeting Monday afternoon at the clubhouse final plans were discussed.

Legion members on the committee are C. J. Fleweger, Matt Busch, Arthur Hoffensperger, Dr. B. J. Ouellette, Jack Weiss, Otto Gruntz, George Gerrits, George McElroy, Len Goffard, Jack Girard and Henry Stiers.

The choir, ushers, church board, assessment board and pastors of the Holy Name church will be honored at a banquet at 6:30 Sunday evening at the clubhouse. After dinner cards will be played.

G.O.P. Committee 'Taking Soundings' For 1940 Platform

Program Group to Offer Suggestions to Quadrennial Convention

Washington—The Republican program committee disclosed today it is "taking soundings" of rank-and-file party opinion in an effort to gather material for a 1940 platform.

Dr. Glenn Frank, program chairman, told the Republican national committee that his group would offer suggestions to the regular quadrennial convention.

Originally a mid-term convention to draft party policy had been suggested by several Republican leaders, including former President Hoover.

In its session yesterday, the national committee left the way open for Republican members of congress to make day-to-day decisions on questions of policy.

Chairman John Hamilton said that policy problems were not discussed and that committee members spent most of their time assuring one another the party would win the presidency in 1940.

Will Offer Proposals

The program committee said in a statement today that "a record of extensive soundings of rank and file Republican reaction," now being compiled, will be submitted to the 1940 convention platform committee. Specific proposals for party declarations also will be offered.

Much conversation at the committee meeting yesterday revolved around the question of a presidential nominee for 1940.

Kenneth F. Simpson, avowedly liberal New York committee member who managed the gubernatorial campaign of Thomas E. Dewey, declined to make any prediction about the latter. He asserted, however, that when Dewey has completed his work as a New York prosecutor, it may be time to re-survey the general political situation.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, another who has been mentioned for the Republican nomination, told reporters:

"I would not lift a finger to get a single delegate to the convention. I'm not running for anything. I'm running away."

As a follow-up to the committee session, leaders of Republican women's clubs were called together today to complete organization of their national federation. It has 13 affiliated clubs, including 12 state federations.

"If we get the women educated in Republican doctrines, they go out and are salesmen for the party," commented Miss Marion E. Martin, assistant to Chairman Hamilton.

Awards Contract for Chilton Post Office To Chicago Company

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington—The treasury procurement division today awarded the contract for construction of the Chilton post office to Carl Westburg and company, Chicago, Ill., who bid $49,577, the lowest of nine bids.

This bid includes an alternate which is to use dolomite limestone for the exterior trim. The work is to be completed in 300 days, officials said.

The limit of cost is $80,000 of which the government paid $7,400 for the site on the south side of E. Main street, west of Spring street.

Army Considers Establishing New Bases for Planes

New Hampshire, Alaska And Florida Mentioned for Sites

Washington—President Roosevelt's defense program, military circles heard today, may include the establishment of new army air bases at several of the nation's strategic outposts.

Officials said the president may ask congress for funds to build bases in New England, Florida, Alaska in connection with the projected expansion of the army air fleet.

A special war department official board already has inspected possible sites in New Hampshire, and advocates of a base in Florida to protect the Caribbean and the Panama Canal have been especially active since Mr. Roosevelt declared that national defense involved the entire western hemisphere.

An aerial inspection trip to Alaska last summer by Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, produced a hint that the high command again might seek funds for the long-projected Alaskan bases.

Meanwhile, comments by returning members of congress indicated that national defense will be the subject of lively discussion at the next session.

Rep. Engel (R-Mich.), estimating that a 10,000-plane air force would cost as much each year as either the army or navy, asserted that if congress was to provide such a fleet "we should go into it with our eyes to the cost."

(Congress gave the navy $588,000 for the current fiscal year, and the army received about $461,000.)

"I'm not saying we do not need such an air force, because I am not in a position to judge the international dangers," Engel said. He is a member of the subcommittee on military appropriations and was an army officer in the World War.

Farmers to Vote On Crop Control At Five Referenda

New Congress Will Chart Course on Results Of Expressions

Washington—Events of the next three or four weeks may have far-reaching influence on the attitude of the new congress toward administration farm policies.

Coming at a time when the farm program has been under attack because of low prices and when some Democratic as well as Republican congressmen are proposing substitutes, these events will include:

1. Five referenda in which more than 2,500,000 farmers will be given an opportunity to express views on crop control programs designed to boost income from cotton, rice and tobacco.
2. A federal crop report on acreage sown this fall to winter wheat for harvest in 1939.
3. Progress by the agriculture department toward its goal of exporting 100,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat.
4. Extent to which corn growers take advantage of a government loan on grain withheld from market.

Secretary Wallace and his assistants consider the referenda of prime importance. Growers of cotton, rice and flue-cured tobacco will vote Dec. 10 on proposals to invoke strict marketing quota provisions of the new farm law in order to keep surpluses off markets next year.

Needs Two-thirds Approval

Growers of barley and dark types of tobacco will vote a week later on a referendum proposal. To become effective, each proposal must be approved by two-thirds of the persons participating in the referendum.

Administration farm leaders expressed belief approval of quotas would go a long way toward offsetting Democratic reversals in the midwestern farm belt at the recent elections.

The crop report to be issued in mid-December will show the extent to which winter wheat growers are cooperating with the department's request that they plant about 30 per cent less than a year ago, because of a near-record surplus.

Sales of wheat for export under the government's subsidy program divided to a trickle in November as foreign competitors cut prices below those at which this country was willing to sell. Officials hoped, however, such sales would increase sharply before Argentina's new big crop started moving to foreign ports in January.

Officials believed some of the dissatisfaction in the corn belt would fade when the government starts making corn loans late this week of 57 cents a bushel—or about 20 cents more than current farm prices. They estimated these loans might total $200,000,000.

Claims Sys-Tone was only medicine to help his little girl.

"Your Sys-Tone has helped our little girl, Gertrude, 10 months, age seven years, so much that I would have gladly paid $100.00 per bottle for it." Such was the gratifying statement of Mr. Charles Waterbury, 628 East Court Avenue, Jeffersonville, Indiana.

Mr. Waterbury is well known in Jeffersonville, having lived there for the past twenty years.

"About two years ago," continued Mr. Waterbury, "Our little girl had a bad case of the measles which left her with a bad case of bronchial trouble, which developed into a dry, hacking cough. She lost in weight until she was just a shadow. She could not even sleep at night and was so nervous that she could not keep still and never ate enough to keep a bird alive. We were doing everything we could for her, but nothing helped her until we were fortunate enough to hear of Sys-Tone and we started giving her this treatment several weeks ago and she immediately improved from the start and today she is like a different child. She does not cough at all during the night and sleeps fine. Has a wonderful appetite and is gaining in weight every day. My wife says it is simply wonderful to see how she improves every day and we gladly tell everyone how Sys-Tone has restored our little daughter to good health."

Clapper Forecasts Approval Of Adequate Defense Program

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Some senators and representatives fear that adequate national defense measures in the coming session of congress will be blocked by the strong desire in this country to keep out of war. These members have just been through an election and know that, in most parts of the United States, sentiment is strongly against mixing up in Europe—perhaps stronger than it was before the recent crisis. But it does not follow that this sentiment will oppose adequate national defense. The best weather-vane on that is Congressman Louis Ludlow of Indiana, author of the Ludlow war referendum.

Ludlow, a Democrat, won reelection early while some of his fellow Indiana Democrats went down to defeat. He campaigned on his war referendum and told his constituents that he wanted them to vote him in or out on that issue. He is preparing to come back and make a new fight for it and it will be a troublesome issue because it was killed last winter only by the hardest kind of cloakroom wire-pulling by the administration. Even Jim Farley had to telephone several state Democratic bosses and persuade them to call off their representatives in congress.

But Ludlow, spokesman for the extreme of keep-out-of-war sentiment, told his constituents that he was for strong defense. "If I am reelected I will vote every dollar needed for defense of our country but I will not vote to put our boys up against the bayonets, poison gas and the aerial bombs in any foreign war in which we have no direct interest."

That probably is a fair reflection of American public sentiment at the moment—intense determination to keep out of foreign wars, coupled with willingness to take whatever measures seem necessary for adequate defense of our country. Events in Europe and Asia probably have strengthened peace sentiment and defense sentiment simultaneously. The two things are not contradictory. On the contrary, world events have shown that in these times, a nation is helpless unless it is able to defend itself. Czechoslovakia and China tell that story.

Attempt at Subterfuge Would Cause Resentment

There is one fear that is working up—or maybe is being worked up—fear that the Roosevelt administration will use a national defense program as a cover for domestic economic and social reforms. Much of the New Deal was proposed in order to meet a national emergency, the depression. Now it is feared that defense needs will provide the new pretext. Any attempt to use the defense program as the reason for internal changes not absolutely required as part of it is likely to be resented, as subterfuges are always resented.

But is it not likely that any straight forward defense program, based strictly on military needs, will encounter any popular opposition as a matter of principle.

Technical Factors Are Of Greatest Importance

More important than any political considerations are the technical needs of the situation. How large an air force do we need? Do we need 10,000 planes just because Germany has 10,000 planes? Or is our geography so different from England's that we do not need to consider matching Germany or any other nation plane for plane? Does our geographical position call primarily for naval or for air defense?

Those are not questions to be answered by taking a poll of public sentiment. Congress would better poll the experts. You can't settle questions of that kind at the ballot box. All you can do is to hold your senators and representatives responsible for sound, intelligent and thoroughly informed action. This is a field in which the less politics the better it is difficult enough to know what to do after you have all of the technical information at hand, without being compelled to consult the political heelers around the courthouse.

GOP Leaders See 1940 Victory in New Deal Errors

Young Republicans Show Power at Conference, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, (AP)—Conferees such as the Republican National committee has just held here bring out the distinctly political motif which actuates national party organizations, rather than any liberal and conservative cleavage.

True enough, the election of Kenneth Simpson of New York, a liberal member of the party, to the national committee was a sign of the powerful influence which the young Republicans and independents have in the national organization, but anybody who looked over the whole group could not but feel that men of the Simpson type are still in the minority in the Republican party.

In the interest of peace and harmony, the meeting was not permitted to give voice to controversial issues, but it is plain to see that the Republican party has not yet crystallized its new era of existence to the point where any definite compromise can be attributed to it. Inside the party, the liberals are confident that, by 1940, they will make Republicanism more attractive to the independent voter than it has been. Conversely, the staunch conservatives are convinced that any turn to New Dealism is unnecessary and that, if the Republicans will just sit tight and harass their opposition, joining with the independent Democrats to make political mischief, the tide of votes will come their way two years hence just the same.

It is on this fundamental point that opinions as to the future of the Republican party will differ. If the minority in congress, reinforced by a group of new Republicans, should decide on a more aggressively partisan course than before, there is always the risk that the independent Democrats may be driven back into the arms of a chastened and perhaps wiser New Deal group of Democrats. For, while allies fight alongside one another in times of common cause, they do not always stick together when some of the dangers which have produced that common cause are removed. Among the Republicans at the national committee meeting there was to be detected a bit of cockiness about the recent congressional elections which raises a number of interesting queries. One is whether the old-line Republicans realize the extent to which a lot of the newly elected Republicans spoke during the recent campaign favorably of the "objectives" of the New Deal. Another is whether the placing in positions of control in party councils of men identified in the minds of independent voters with the ultra-conservative side of the Republican party will not be proof conclusive to the independent voters that, in 1940, if the Democratic convention nominates a middle-of-the-road liberal, they should cast their lot with him rather than conservative Republicanism.

Every meeting of a national party committee brings to the surface the kind of strategy which dominates the thinking of the leaders. This week's session tends to corroborate the strategy of the group who have insisted that an opposition party does not need a new set of principles or a liberal platform or a mid-term convention or anything else, but that it just needs to use the well-known hammer of political combat and the votes will come in just the same. But there are rumblings which indicate that an organization such as has been known as the Glenn Frank policy committee, the one which is studying the platform for the 1940 campaign, will not permit itself to be brushed aside by the politicians.

Leadership The argument most often offered to the Glenn Frank committee was that the 1938 elections had to be won and that specific positions on controversial questions would jeopardize Republican chances. Today, those elections are out of the way and the country is asking what kind of leadership the Republicans will offer if they obtain possession of both the executive and legislative branches of the government. The fearless leadership of Thomas E. Dewey of New York is plainly regarded as of the vote-getting type, but it remains to be seen whether the conservative wing of the Republican party will blot out the Glenn Frank committee and the liberal platform sponsors and force the same old political strategy of perfect ambiguities as the answer to a revised New Deal program and a liberal nominee.

There was, on the whole, very little indication from the Republican National committee meeting that the new party leaders are aware of how far they must go to get the independent vote next time, but there can be no doubt of the fundamental belief on the part of many of the Republican committee-men that victory in 1940 is in the cards mostly on account of New Deal mistakes. But the New Dealers are doing some reforming and rearranging, too, and the meeting held by Chairman Farley in Chicago coincident with the Republican gathering here shows that the Democratic party chieftains know they have some work to do to regain favor—and they will not continue, it may be presumed, to make

Insurance Class Will Hold Second Meeting

With 45 men registered, the class in insurance education being sponsored by the Fox River Valley Association of Life Underwriters will meet for the second time next Saturday morning at the Appleton Vocational school.

Thirty-seven men were present at the opening session last Saturday, according to George Nixon, association president. Twelve sessions in all are scheduled, with four at the Appleton school, four at Neenah, and four at Oshkosh.

Listening to what the teacher has to say is the duty of students in most classes, but a group that studies at the Appleton Vocational school watches what the instructor says.

CLAPPER ON TAFT AND ROOSEVELT

Raymond Clapper recently reviewed William Allen White's interesting book upon President Coolidge entitled "A Puritan in Babylon."

From this book, based upon many letters written by responsible men, Mr. White concluded that Chief Justice Taft often talked to Mr. Coolidge when the latter was president, pointing out the weakness and the wickedness of the participation of politics in so often affecting the selection of federal judges.

The Chief Justice said he felt it a bounden duty to labor with Mr. Coolidge in order to break him away from political or senatorial control in naming federal district judges, and to this end suggested to the President that Democrats should be freely chosen but that ability, integrity and character should prevail as the three cardinal qualities in making selections.

Mr. Clapper then asked someone to figure out for him whether it was more or less unAmerican for Chief Justice Taft to try to influence Coolidge to appoint more enlightened judges than for President Roosevelt to try to influence the supreme court to "render more enlightened decisions."

Mr. Taft wasn't trying to secure the selection of any particular man. Mr. Roosevelt was trying to get a particular decision. Mr. Taft was willing to leave to the President the determination of who were "more enlightened." Mr. Roosevelt was trying to dictate to the court what decision "was more enlightened."

The distinction between the efforts of Mr. Taft 15 years ago and those of our President just recently is as wide as from here to Mars. It becomes even more evident if we follow the sort of language that conceivably might be employed in setting up the respective standards.

We presume that Chief Justice Taft spoke to President Coolidge about as follows:

"It is highly important that we get abler men upon the federal district courts. When you make appointments solely upon political recommendations in some states you are not getting the high type that should be placed in such positions. Sometimes political recommendations are made merely to pay debts and it is a tremendous hardship upon the people in the country when judicial appointments are passed out as political plums, perhaps even for herding gamblers and bookies and race track touts together for election day."

No one can possibly see either wrong or impropriety, either pressure or indelicacy for any judge to speak in any such manner to the man with the appointing power. The effort is clearly to raise the standard of the judiciary and by so doing to improve the public service.

But now let us see how Mr. Roosevelt would discuss with himself the sort of men he wanted placed upon the bench:

"If I appoint Mr. Black he will undoubtedly vote to uphold every measure that I approve. Naturally I think he will be correct in so doing. I am of the opinion that the supreme court is wrong in its construction of some parts of the constitution. It is true that that construction has existed for 50 years, sometimes a hundred, but I don't believe in it. It is true that many of these constructions are sustained by men rated our greatest judges, but I don't agree with them. I shall therefore appoint men who will set at naught these long lines of decisions and take my interpretation of the constitution. As to whether it wouldn't be better when I disagree with the court to ask congress to amend the constitution I reply that it would take too long and besides I have a mandate. If the people have elected me doesn't that mean they have issued orders to me to put my will into action?"

The supporters of Mr. Roosevelt will have to try another way through the mountain range. Their sort of reasoning, even if indulged only by asking questions and making possible comparisons, will not even get them past the foot hills.

Mr. Roosevelt's methods were wrong. Time, it appears, is convincing the public of that fact. And no quantity of debate, even that formulated by Tommy the Cork and based upon quotations from Dante, can alter the fact.

THE SEARCH FOR JUSTICE

An Appleton youth was arrested for the serious and severely punishable offense of attempted extortion. The federal commissioner in searching for material facts upon which to base the bail required brought forth from the accused that he had written several tavernkeepers to mail in $5 per week to a certain address "or else"; that the accused believed his father had squandered material parts of his paycheck with these tavernkeepers and that as a consequence the family had suffered.

Assuming that this version is true, what shall be done in order to sustain justice?

The word justice, like many others we use in common conversation is difficult to define, sometimes almost impossible to hold and fasten in position. We have reactions to what might be called primitive justice when we resent the punishment of another who may have breached some law but driven to desperate action by the claimed misconduct of others.

It is as natural as the breathing process and as worthy as the helping hand for a young man "to do something about it" upon ascertaining the facts this young man claims to have known.

That he chose unwisely, that in fact he plunged ahead recklessly, that he abandoned reason and restraint and adopted a method that can neither be supported nor tolerated is not the only matter to be considered in determining whether or how he should be punished.

His youth and the very clumsiness of his methods, together with the fact that his heart may have ached in despair over what was transpiring are all very important details to ascertain before the satisfaction can arise that justice has been done.

Fortunately the determination of this question need not depend upon conjecture nor yet upon mere alibi. Careful inquiry can be made to see if the young man furnished accurate facts. If he did any substantial punishment might itself be injustice. Rather, perhaps, should the experience be devoted to educating him to the futility of increasing the number of wrongs in order to wipe out the original error.

The refusal of the grand jury to return any indictment will lead the young man to believe that many oft-repeated verses may have more cynicism than truth, such, for instance, as:

"Truth—forever on the scaffold.
Wrong—forever on the throne."

THE DIES COMMITTEE MUST LIVE

Public reaction to the dispatch that the Dies committee must terminate its labors about the middle of December unless congress appropriates further funds is that the money must be appropriated and the committee's good work proceed.

This committee has undertaken an excellent objective and it would be a pity to abandon it now. It has already exposed the insidious wormlike workings through the American fabric of both Reds and Fascists, a considerable part of which had therefore rested only upon rumor or unsupported charge and that is now known to rest substantially upon facts.

Reds and Fascists, we all know, belong in the category with certain creeping or crawling forms of life that scot and scatter as soon as the protecting covering is removed and the sunlight enters.

We think the Dies committee has made substantial errors in failing to more carefully investigate proffered evidence before broadcasting it to the country. Such a committee is invariably a magnet drawing to it a species of neurotics as well as the savage person who has an axe to grind and wants to vilify someone. But after making errors of this kind we have a right to expect the committee to avoid any more muddlings by rigorously investigating the character of the people as well as the character of the evidence offered.

The country wants neither Red baiting nor Fascist baiting. It just wants the solemn truth. It wants to know the extent of the Moscow infiltration into the labor movement and of the Fascist infiltration into business and industry. It wants to put these menaces side by side on some wind swept hilltop and chain them there where all may see and understand. Thus they would be withheld from harming those who live and work in the fertile valleys.

And in respect to the necessity of continuing this work we do not believe the people will take No for an answer. Just as they do not want any baiting or exaggeration neither do they want to be blinded and sent home and told there is nothing to it. They know there is plenty to it. They have seen with their own eyes enough men raised to positions of vantage in this country who have often preached its destruction to want to understand the why and the wherefore of all these things and read what these people have to say for themselves and weigh their excuses to determine whether they are glib and worthless or fair and genuine.

It simply won't do to try to choke off this Dies investigation. It is a matter that won't be choked.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

A SPECIAL ANGEL

She was a special baby,
A very particular joy.
Who came for a little visit
From stary celestial lands.
She brought us a glimpse of heaven...
Too tiny to hold a toy.
She played with the glancing sunbeams
That shone on her baby hands.

She was a special baby
Who came for a little while
To show us the way to heaven.
To light alabaster stairs;
And now there's a special angel
In heaven... God sees her smile,
And holds her a little closer
While hearing her mother's prayers.

DALE HARRISON'S
In Old New York

New York—A wee tot recently was adopted into the home of a Bronx couple I know. The baby, a girl, is two and a half years old. Her parents, living in Germany, sent her here, fearful that something horrible might happen if she remained there; for the baby is a Jew.

The racial creeds of a Fuehrer do not disturb a baby. There are far more important things in life for a two-and-a-half-year old tot than dictators; important things like dolls and sunshine and plenty of creamy milk, and potatoes and spinach. Much more important.

She is just a baby and she is in America, where no stones from a Nazi mob can hurt her; in America, where the schools and parks and theatres and churches and stores are not verboten zum Jude.

She is too young to remember that she was born under a government hating her and her people. Much too young; yet—

I wish you could stand with me, unobserved, in the room where she plays—a room in the home of a freeborn American citizen in New York City, U. S. A.; and I wish you could see what happens when someone in the room casually mentions the name of the Head of the German State.

The baby, playing on the floor, climbs to her feet.

Her little body becomes rigidly erect!

Her tiny arm shoots upward in the Nazi salute.

Her eyes stare wide, straight ahead; and from her baby throat come clear and strong two words:

"Heil, Hitler!"

We Worry, Incorporated

Science is a wonderful thing, though it has a tendency to approach life from too practical a side. It invents things to make living softer. It neglects to consider that man lives not so much in a house as in his mind.

There will come a day, I have no doubt, when someone will recognize this Great Truth and will do something about it. In other words, someone will find a way to take our minds to the cleaner's and wash away the worry.

This really isn't my day to stand up in class and give my famous Why Worry recitation. The only reason I mention the matter at all is that I saw in the papers the other day the first hopeful sign, so far as Worry is concerned.

It was a small ad in the Public Notices column, and the headline was this: "Worry, Headaches Eliminated."

The rest of the ad was a bit disappointing. It said that the advertiser would eliminate worry and headaches by "mailing and addressing your holiday greeting cards." In a small way, of course, the mailing and addressing of greeting cards is a headache; and I am ready to concede that the advertiser has made a start in the right direction.

What we need, however, is not a Trivial but a Tremendous worry. You and I am muddle through the greeting cards some way. It's the isinglass envelopes on the first of the month, the tax collector, the new baby, the mortgage, and payments on the washing machine that put those circles under our eyes. Let some smart fellow figure out a way to worry for us about things like that, and then the bloom of youth will return to our cheeks, our eyes will regain their gay twinkle, and I'll stop beating my wife.

Another helpful sign is an advertiser who for a trifling fee will give financial advice to any citizen who feels himself to be just a step in front of the sheriff. This concern, the first of its kind I ever heard of, purports to give advice solely from the standpoint of the hard pressed citizen and not, as has been the case heretofore, from the standpoint of a company aiming to lend money at interest.

There also are several ladies and gentlemen around town who make good livings by listening to people's troubles and then dishin' out advice. The advice is usually the same as the worrier would have given himself, but somehow it is more imposing when you get it from a stranger and pay for it.

I even have heard of one group of consultants who do nothing but listen to people's troubles, charging so much an hour for it and giving no advice whatever. The idea is that people feel better if they only can find somebody's shoulder to cry on.

That's all for today. You may now return to your regular worrying.

A Bystander
In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVE

Washington — The State Department always has been the aristocracy of government service — at least to those outside looking in—and this, coupled with the new emphasis now placed on Latin American relations, has brought on a fever of ambitious yearnings among young federalists.

Exiting to the lads who want to do big things in the government is the unheralded but sensational rise of young Laurence Duggan. In five years this slender son of Harvard bounded from his first State Department job to chief of the division of American republics — one of the top-rung places in the career service. And he is only 33.

Scores of promising college graduates are examined each year by the State Department for the half-dozen openings in the career service and numbers of employees of other departments take after-hour training in foreign service schools hopeful that the lightning will strike them. (Imagine the thrill of being sent to Berlin as third secretary of legation or assigned to romantic Buenos Aires.)

Duggan Had Advantages

Duggan had something of a flying start. He had a plentiful background of family scholarship to begin with. His father, Stephen Duggan, is professor of political science at the College of the City of New York, and director in a half-dozen scholarly and diplomatic societies, including the council on foreign relations of the league of nations association, and the Institute of International Education.

The institute sent young Duggan to South America in 1929 to expand its work there. He learned a lot, made a favorable impression, and within a year was chosen by the State Department as research assistant in the Latin American division. His pay was $3,200 to begin with, quite a leap above most starting salaries, who do well if they push above $2,000 at the kickoff.

Duggan worked at his job by day and studied at night, won the attention of Sumner Welles, Under Secretary of State, and tried to shed useless elements of a slightly shy disposition. By 1934 he was bringing home $4,600 a year. By Sept. 1, 1935, he drew $6,500 as assistant chief, and two months later he headed the division at $8,000 a year. He was only 30 then. Even yet, at 33, he is the youngest executive in the department.

Replaces Old Glow

Duggan puts back a rosy glow that vanished for many an old timer in the department long ago. But regardless of what happens to its members the romance is evident from the outside. And you couldn't shoo the insiders outside for almost any job on earth. Recently one of the senior members hove in from out Java way with a gruesome story or two of the trials and tribulations of life astride the equator. But for every poison snake that scared the wife into hysterics there was a story of other experiences vibrant with oriental color. And the guy had 17 servants.

Duggan hasn't been out in the field yet to win his spurs in a foreign diplomatic post. That will come later. At present he is the specialist who will sit at the elbow of the Secretary of State at the Pan American conference at Lima. He's in the big time, on diplomatic Broadway.

Collision at Waupaca

Waupaca — Turning out to avoid hitting Carl Frederickson, who was walking in the road, an oil truck driven by Reuben Danielson of Scandinavia, collided with a milk truck owned by Richard Bonikowski and driven by Laverne Brooks, tipping the milk truck and spilling more than 1,000 pounds of milk. Damages estimated at $100 were done to the oil truck while only the two rear tires of the milk truck were repared. No one was injured. The accident occurred Monday morning on Oborn street, opposite the Fisher-Fallgatter mill.

EXCUSE US, WE THOUGHT IT WAS THE REAL THING

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

INFECTED TONSILS

Any competent, honest physician knows that as a rule more or less tonsil tissue remains in the throat after the standard tonsillectomy operation, no matter who removes the tonsils or what method he employs. In the great majority of cases patients never have any further trouble from the bits of tonsil remaining.

If your doctor is capable of thinking for himself or if he is capable of weighing the scientific and clinical or practical evidence which is on record where all physicians may examine it, he must at least question the wisdom of attempting to remove normal tonsil tissue from the throat by any method.

The weight of scientific and practical evidence seems to establish the efficacy of the focal infection principle in practice. It is not only justifiable but essential that if there is a septic focus in the tonsil the area of infection be eradicated, drained, disinfected, pasteurized or otherwise destroyed or removed as the first step in the treatment of whatever systemic condition the infection may have caused.

Probably every doctor has seen some happy results from radical tonsillectomy in such cases of focal infection. But the disappointing results, and in too many instances, the tragic results of this atrocious operation far overshadow the doubtful benefits to be gained from it, when we consider that, if only he be a little better informed and a little more skilled, the doctor can obtain for his patient every possible advantage of tonsillectomy with virtually none of the grave risks of the major operation, by the use of diathermy, electro-coagulation, for pasteurizing, disinfecting, draining or destroying septic or infected areas in the tonsil.

Altho it can scarcely be expected as a routine occurrence it is the experience in not a few cases that the patient notices an astonishingly prompt relief in the systemic manifestations—ache, pain, stiffness, etc., within a day or two after the first or second electro-coagulation sitting. Indeed this extraordinary result of pasteurization or perhaps actual disinfection of the septic area has been so marked and so complete in some instances that no further treatment has been necessary.

In order to make this clearer to the casual reader let me say pasteurize means to heat moderately—up to 145 degrees F for 20 to 30 minutes, in reference to milk. It kills some disease germs, but not all. Disinfect means to free from infection by destroying disease germs. The pinhead area of tonsil tissue between the poles of the diathermy applicator may be destroyed by rounding tonsil tissue is merely pasteurized, not destroyed. No doubt this pasteurizing action, in the happy instances mentioned, happens to include the main area of infection.

I repeat, this is by no means the uniform experience in tonsil diathermy in cases of focal infection. But it is impressive when it happens.

YOU CAN'T MISS — if you follow my advice and attend the sale of THREE PIECE SUITS at GEENEN'S. . . unbelievable prices for unbelievably smart and expensive suits.

One that particularly caught my eye is a monotone wool wine with a full length coat topped off with a huge Canadian wolf collar covering a two piece dressmaker suit — reduced from $39.75 to $29.

Another remarkable costume is one with a brown Mouton fur topper that can be used separately or over the two piece rust wool suit for which it is intended. This entire outfit is now only $43 reduced from $59.75.

If you prefer strictly tailored suits without fur trim, there is a teal blue camels hair super lustratone model consisting of a full length coat over a two piece dressmaker suit at only $37.

These are just a few of the marvelous bargains that are awaiting you at GEENEN'S. Suits, remember, have become a classic "must" in any wardrobe — they serve so many purposes. . . Such costumes at such prices are fashion-wise women's favorites. The size range is 14-20 — so don't delay, you must see these three piece suits right away.

Voyta Wrabetz, CIO Settle Differences

MADISON — (P)—Voyta Wrabetz, chairman of both the state industrial commission and the labor relations board, said today he would revise his recent letter urging commission employees to join the Wisconsin State Employees association, an A. F. of L. affiliate.

The letter brought a formal protest from the Madison CIO council. The council adopted a resolution demanding that Wrabetz inform employees of the existence of the State, County and Municipal Workers of America, a CIO union, and indicate they are free to join either the A. F. of L. or CIO organization.

Wrabetz, who declared he did not know the CIO union existed at the time he wrote the letter, said he would make amends.

It looks like we're to have a jolly old-fashioned Christmas — in fact the new CHRISTMAS CARDS have gone way back to the gay nineties for their inspiration. A riot of color and quaint design makes these cards stand out as entirely different from those of former years. Outdoor sports are pictured in scenes of skaters and tobogganners — reminding us that our forebears really enjoyed the good old winter time — even as our own present enthusiasm for skiing and skating is seeing the greatest revival in years.

BUT—we started out to talk about Christmas Cards — it is still possible to order yours printed — but wise, not to delay choosing them to be sure of getting your first choice!

Couple Wanted in Robbery Believed Seen in Missouri

Search for Bandits and Kidnapers Also Underway in Chicago

Excelsior Springs, Mo. — (AP) — Chief of Police William A. Payne said a man and a woman seen on the streets here early today had been identified by an employee at a health resort here as Benny Dickson and his blonde wife, at present couple No. 1 of the crime world.

Payne said the employee, Mott Kennell, was walking toward the health resort when he noticed a car parked at the curb with the woman behind the wheel and the man slumped over in the front seat as if doubled up with pain.

Believing the pair to be patients at the health resort, Kennell offered to aid them to the door but the woman started the car and drove away at high speed.

Kennell said the man's face was covered with a three or four day growth of beard and that three rifles were in the back seat of the car, which carried Illinois license plates.

Identifies Picture
Members of the Missouri highway patrol at Lees Summit said officers had been dispatched to Excelsior Springs.

Kennell identified a picture of Dickson as the man seen in the car. Last Thursday Dickson escaped from officers at a Topeka, Kans., tourist camp when officers fired 48 shots at him. It was believed he suffered a head wound in a brush with Michigan state police early Monday.

Since then three persons have been kidnapped by the couple and police in Michigan, Illinois and Indiana have been on the alert for them.

A Detroit last night John C. Bugas, chief of the federal bureau investigation there, said Dickson, 27, and his 17-year-old wife, Estelle, had been positively identified as the persons who robbed two South Dakota banks.

HUNTED IN CHICAGO

Chicago — (AP) — Search was started for a sedan with yellow wheels today after Lieutenant Carl Ekman of suburban Evanston police said two of four occupants might have been Benny Dickson, 27, and his wife, Estelle, 17, accused bank robbers.

Ekman said Earl Hullison, 19, a Chicago clerk, identified a newspaper photograph of Dickson as a gunman who forced him to drive the gunman and his woman companion to a meeting place from where the couple fled with two men in another car.

The general description Hullison gave of the gunman and the woman, Ekman said, fitted those of the Dicksons, branded public enemies by John S. Bugas, chief of the Detroit Federal Bureau of Investigation. Ekman said he believed the fugitive car had reached Wisconsin.

Hullison said the couple, the man wearing a bandage on his head, appeared him while he was taking an early morning walk and made him lead them to his car. They entered and forced him to drive to Evanston. There they met a car containing two men, ordered Hullison to remain for 15 minutes and sped north with the men.

here yesterday, as they returned to Milwaukee today.

The license number on the automobile was the same as that reported on the so-called Dickson suspect car, but Captain Kraemer said the arrests had nothing to do with the Dickson case.

The youths, two of them 19 and the other 24, told the detective captain, he said, they drove to Evanston with the intention of holding up the North Shore hotel but they "got cold feet."

"No Evidence" of Charges Found

Pennsylvania Assembly Won't Act Against Governor, 13 Others

Harrisburg, Pa. — (AP) — Pennsylvania's Democratic general assembly decided early today that campaign charges against Governor George H. Earle and 13 others high in the administration and the Democratic party were unfounded.

The house of representatives, voting along strict party lines, approved a majority report of five Democratic members of a legislative investigating committee that they found "no evidence" to substantiate the charges.

A minority report by the two Republican members of the committee was rejected. The Republicans termed the investigation "a farce."

The reports concluded a two-months search by the committee for impeachment evidence.

The charges—blackmail, conspiracy, and political coercion—were preferred by Republican Attorney Carl B. Shelley of Dauphin county (Harrisburg) in a petition for a grand jury investigation.

Football's Flaws Fail to Justify Reforms-Crisler

University of Michigan Coach Speaks at Banquet Here

Tall, scholarly looking Fritz Crisler, who in his first year as University of Michigan coach brought about restoration of the Wolverines' reputation as a bang-up ball club, told 450 people attending the Lawrence college-Appleton High school grid banquet last night that college football has no more flaws than politics and other American institutions and that "the time when I will become concerned will be when the football fields become deserted."

The Wolverine leader, who at the outset disclaimed any ability at public speaking and then proceeded to talk with smoothness and forcefulness of an accomplished lecturer, was the principal speaker at the banquet at Masonic Temple, sponsored by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

"I know of no course in college where emotions can be harnessed and leashed as they can in football," Crisler said. "This is the time of the year when you hear the reformers who would like to de-emphasize or abolish the game. . . That would be a shame, for we need more rough contact games."

Character At Outset
Crisler does not believe that football is any great builder of men. At the start of his address he said: "I'm not one who feels you can gain a lot of character by playing football. This Lawrence college squared, for example, had character before they ever pulled on their moccasins. Actually, men of this type lend character to the game. But I do believe the game makes educational contributions."

In illustrating his faith in the game's ability to guide and train men's instincts, he told the story of a brilliant halfback on this year's Michigan team who "had selfish emotions when he entered one of our important games."

Behind at the start of the third quarter, the Wolverines drove down the field with this particular halfback making substantial gains principally through the blocking efforts of two of his backfield mates. With the ball near the goal, the player was called upon to block for the other halfback and "failed miserably."

Crisler jerked him from the game let him "think it over for a while," until the player came to him and admitted his attitude was selfish. Returned to the game, the halfback was the spearhead of a 60-yard drive that brought the winning scores.

Good Investment

Good coaches, Crisler said, "are one of the best investments a community can make. The Wolverine

The President's Opportunity and His Choice

In this interval between the elections in November and the convening of the new Congress in January the president will make a decision which will affect the course of history for many years to come. He will decide whether he will lead the country through conciliation to an internal peace or through conflict to disunion.

He can choose. Among the statesmen of the world he is in this respect unique, that by his own free choice he can still elect whether he will proceed by unifying or by dividing his countrymen. Elsewhere, it is perhaps too late to make this choice. In the revolutionary despotisms the grim logic of events is such that the irreparable acts of the past determine inexorably the actions of the future; in other lands, France for example, the discord within the nation is so deep and the dangers from without are so menacing that ordinary solutions seem possible only if at the eleventh hour there is an altogether extraordinary expression of national feeling.

But here in the United States it is the fact, and in the modern world it is an astounding fact, that there is no internal crisis, that there are no irreconcilable conflicts, that the prevailing opinion is overwhelmingly moderate, good-tempered and well-disposed, and that only by deliberately provoking a struggle can the people be seriously divided.

Outcome Depends on Spirit and Methods
Mr. Roosevelt's choice is either to recognize this and to build his policies and his programs upon this general desire for national union or to disrupt it and precipitate a struggle of classes and sections. The outcome depends not so much on what he wants to do, on his "objectives," as it does on the spirit in which he acts and on the method which he adopts. He can preserve, he can strengthen, he can extend all his essential reforms if he chooses the road to internal peace. But if he proclaims another crusade, treats his opponents as enemies of the people and his critics as conspirators, he will not only jeopardize all that he has accomplished but he will set in motion forces that for years to come will confuse the nation.

All the indications since the elections are that he would prefer to choose the road to peace. If this is the road he means to take the way to proceed is to remove from the field of controversy the issues which tend most seriously to divide the nation. It is easy enough to see where those issues lie. They exist in the administration of relief, in the administration of the Labor Relations Board and in the administration of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

In regard to relief, the issue is not whether the Federal government shall accept the fiscal responsibility for seeing that no one starves and that no willing worker is demoralized by involuntary idleness; the only issue is whether the Federal funds shall be administered by the president's personal agent or whether both political parties, the states and the localities shall share the responsibility and the power. In regard to the Labor Relations Board, the issue is not whether the government shall protect the right of collective bargaining but whether the procedure under the law shall be partisan or impartial.

And in regard to the T. V. A., the issue is not whether the Federal and private business. It will appear that the Administration is creating public agencies which cannot effectively be called to account anywhere by those who feel that they are being injured.

As long as that is the way the experiment seems to be conducted, it will invite unceasing opposition. Yet nothing would be lost and much would be gained by accepting the principle that a government monopoly, no less than a private monopoly, is under the law and may be called to account before an impartial tribunal.

There is no doubt, I think, that if Mr. Roosevelt would reform his reforms on these three matters, he would liquidate the issues around which the really deep opposition is gathered. He would strengthen beyond calculation his moral authority in the world. For he would be demonstrating the very thing which most needs to be demonstrated, that it is possible in a democracy to realize great social reforms within the framework of thoroughly constitutional government, without the establishment of arbitrary power, and with scrupulous respect not only for the forms but for the spirit of law.

His reward would be the preservation of his reforms, the release of constructive energies throughout the economy, the cooling of party passions, and an outpouring of good will in which great things, healing and productive things, could be done. All this he can have for the choosing if only he will seize the opportunity which destiny offers him.

OIL-PLATED... more than an oil-change!

SEE how refreshing it is, the way Your Mileage Merchant—here in the paper and at his Conoco station—backs up his statements about Germ Processed oil. It brings you more than an oil-change, because right after it is pumped up from the crankcase like any oil, it does something any oil cannot do. Energized by the Germ Process—patented—it bonds to every working part and stays up lastingly in the form of OIL-PLATING. Even grindstones can scarcely remove OIL-PLATING, so it certainly cannot drain down while your car stands cold—no matter how long. Therefore the instant you want to start up, every engine part swiftly and safely slides into action on its ready OIL-PLATING—the lubricant that plainly can't be held back by any cold; that can't hold back your battery. The quick starts tell you there's no grinding wear in your OIL-PLATED engine. It won't get hoggish with your Conoco Germ Processed oil, another good straight reason for you to change to Your Mileage Merchant today.

Appleton Highs, Neenah Rockets Meet This Evening

Invading Basketball Team Reported to Be Best In Years

APPLETON High school basketball team will play its second pre-season contest this evening at the new high school gymnasium when it takes on Neenah. Fox River Valley conference play for the Terrors will open next week at Green Bay West.

The Terrors opened the season last week with a win over Menasha St. Mary but in Neenah will tackle a club which has defeated Kaukauna and Shorewood and which is reported to have everything in the way of talent. During the last couple years the Terrors have had a slight edge in proceedings but reports are the Red Rockets are set for a big victory this evening. The varsity game will begin at 8:15 and the preliminary between reserve teams will go on at 7:15.

Coach Joseph Shields of Appleton was highly pleased with his squad's showing against the Zephyrs last week although the boys have a lot to learn before conference play. He sent them out last Wednesday to play the best they knew and although they muffed a lot of shots, he felt they carried out other assignments well.

Despite the holiday last week, the Terrors have had practices and will be improved. No changes are contemplated in the starting lineup for the Terrors. Bill Besch will be at center with Allen Fraser and Warren Buesing at the forward on offense and at the guards on defense. Bob Bailey and Wes Morris will work the back court on offense and defense move into the front line.

Captain Dan Schmidt, veteran performer and center, is the Neenah boy the Terrors will have to watch. He scored 13 points against Shorewood last week.

Hackstock, Buxton Kettering and Leo Peterson are slated as possible starters in the forward positions while Warren Kettering and Harlan Hesselman will be at the guards.

LAWRENCE COLLEGE'S THREE GREATEST HALFBACKS

When Lawrence college football fans and alumni of the last 25 years get together and tell about outstanding players, those of the pre-war era will tell about Elmer Abrahamson, those of the early 20's will tell about Eddie Kotal and those of the present era will tell about Albert Novakowski. So last evening at the annual football banquet, the three were rounded up for the picture you see above. Abrahamson is in the center looking over Novakowski's most valuable player award, with Kotal on the left and Novakowski on the right. Abe is an instructor in the high school at Oshkosh, Eddie coaches at Stevens Point Teachers college and Novakowski will finish his college studies in February. (Post-Crescent Photo)

IT'S AN ALL-APPLETON AFFAIR WHEN VIKES, H. S. CAPTAINS GET TOGETHER

The annual football banquet for Lawrence college and Appleton High school teams was held last evening at the Masonic temple and when it was over, the captains-elect of the Vikings were Appleton boys as well as the honorary captains of the high school team. And what's more, the George Buesing family had two of the honors, for Ken will help lead Lawrence next year and Warren was half the honorary captaincy of the high school squad.

When the boys finally were gotten away from the crowd which attended the dinner and program and from their mates, they offered a few congratulations as shown above. Starting on the left, Frank Kamps is congratulating Ken Buesing and vice versa. And on the right half of the picture, Warren Buesing is congratulating Dick Garvey, extreme right, and vice versa. The captains-elect of the Lawrence team, Ken Buesing and Garvey, will serve next year. The high school captains were honored for their efforts this season. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Baseball Moguls Prepare for Trek To Annual Meeting

Report American League Will Adopt Raised Seam Ball at New Orleans

BY GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK.—In homes and farmsteads over the land big league baseball men are stowing away their hunting equipment and paring their bunion in preparation for the winter meeting which starts here Dec. 13.

The approaching meeting promises to be fairly interesting, even though the net results never are commensurate with the amount of talk indulged in. There should be several big player deals, with the Cleveland Indians and New York Giants figuring in the most important transactions.

The two leagues are due finally to get together on a uniform baseball, with the American adopting the so-called "pitchers" agate introduced by the national a year ago. Tests have proved this ball travels as far as the American league pellet when hit solidly, but its raised seams afford the pitcher a better grip.

It is recalled that both leagues were set to adopt this ball at their last winter meeting, but that something happened at the last minute. The American league became miffed at President Ford Frick of the senior circuit and bolted the tentative agreement. Now they are understood to be at peace again.

The New York Yankees, with no money troubles, are going to ask the American league to start paying player salaries on the first day of spring training, rather than waiting until the season opens. Owner Jacob Ruppert has figured out this would be an effective method of discouraging the holdouts and getting ball players into camp on the det.

Some Haven't Money
This would stand an excellent chance of adoption were it not for the fact there always are several clubs with no money to speak of in the bank. They depend upon their spring exhibition games to pay their training expenses and to get them home for the big opening day.

The subject of night baseball will be up for some acrimonious discussion in American league councils, with the Cleveland Indians demanding permission to play seven games under the floodlight's next summer.

It takes a majority vote of the clubs to "cancel the fixing of night games, and the club that applies must convince the others the nocturnal batters are a financial necessity. Cleveland was turned down the last time it asked it, but they say President Abe Brule is coming back to time with fire in his eye.

The only National league argument in sight is a three-cornered one, with General Manager Larry MacPhail of Brooklyn scrapping the Giants and their American league allies the Yankees, over Larry's right to broadcast home games. The three clubs had in agreement not to broadcast from Larry took over in Brooklyn and he is fighting to break it.

Reports are current here that the Giants have offered St. Louis $250,000 for other Ducky Medwick or Johnny Mize, but there is no confirmation in the Giants' office.

Buesing, Garvey Named to Lead Vikes Next Year; Kamps, W. Buesing Honored by Highs

TWO Appleton men, Kenneth Buesing and Richard Garvey, juniors, and a halfback and center respectively, were named co-captains of the 1939 Lawrence college football team by lettermen. It was announced at the annual football banquet at the Masonic temple last night.

And, as if to make captaincies a family affair, Appleton high school named Warren Buesing, brother of Ken and an end, and Frank Kamps, guard, seniors, honorary co-captains of the 1938 team. The Terrors do not have regular captains, the coach picking one for each game.

The Buesing brothers are sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Buesing, 1209 N. Morrison street. Garvey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Garvey, 325 S. Memorial drive, and Kamps the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Kamps, 409 W. Seventh street.

Kenneth Buesing is a member of the Lawrence football, basketball and track teams. In football he plays right half, blocks well, passes and kicks and can do a bit of traveling when carrying the ball. He is a top ranking defensive player and a fighter. In basketball he plays guard and in track runs the 440 or sprints.

Played Despite Injury
Garvey, weighing 195 pounds, was center this year for the second season. A rugged, battling performer, he was outstanding on defense and steady on offense. A chipped bone in his foot handicapped him this fall but despite that he received honorable mention on the all-Midwest team.

Warren Buesing showed at end for the high school eleven. A rangy, rugged youth, he was considered one of the best Terror linemen and on occasion shifted to tackle which he played equally as well as end. Kamps was a coach's idea of a guard. Stocky, rugged and in love with the game, he was fast enough to run interference on offense and strong enough to fight his way into opposing backfields on defense.

Football awards were as follows: High school — Bill Besch, Ken Buesing, Charles Rollins, Tom Reid, Ray Brash, Don Heinritz, Carroll Kramer, Henry Kozietzke, Frank Kamps, Francis Crab, Russell Becker, Merrill Filz, George Swamp, Allen Fraser, Bob Koehn, Bud DeLeest, Charles Balliet and manager's award to Bob Masonell.

Lawrence—Varsity letters went to: Co-captains Albert Novakowski, Menasha, and Joseph Maertzwiler, Milwaukee; Jack Crawford, Berlin, Mike Gallo, Milwaukee; Ralph Siebold, Chicago; Don Weidman, Milwaukee; John Hastings, Kenosha; William Hatten, Elmhurst, all seniors; Jack Nystrom, Norway, Mich.; Dick Garvey, Appleton; Ken Buesing, Appleton; Stan Zwergel, Edgerton; Bob Everett, Oak Park, Ill., all juniors; Art Kaemmer, Kiel; Leroy Lubnow, Sheboygan; and Vincent Jones, Appleton, sophomores. The senior manager, Tom Gettelman, Milwaukee, received a manager's letter and Allan Mattmiller, a senior, an Old English letter.

Freshman Awards
Freshman awards went to Harold Boyesen, Harvey, Ill.; Harold Borenz, Neenah; Francis Bradford, Eagle River, Clyde Coenen, Menasha; Ralph Colvin, Appleton; William Depp, Baraboo, Wis.; Alan Florin, Chicago; Frank Hammer, Appleton; Paul Hayden, Green Bay; John Kohl, Appleton; John Lingel, Wilmette; Herbert Kirchhoff, Chicago; Robert McIntosh, Milwaukee; Frank Nenecki, Milwaukee; Alfred Oliver, Appleton; Robert Perry and Perry Powell, both of Milwaukee; Charles Pruett, Appleton; John Roddy, Chicago; Robert Romano, Milwaukee; Ross Schumann, Chicago; David Spalding, Menasha; Harry Sherin, Menasha; Alvin Stalfeld, Neenah; Bill Weiss, Chicago; George Stuart, Milwaukee; and Robert Dykes, Chicago.

Freshman managers' awards went to James Sweet, Wausau, and August Sickman, Bartlesville, Okla.

Sothoron Expects Settlement Soon

Says There Is Pile of Money Due Him and He'll Get It

MILWAUKEE.—(AP) Allan Sothoron, deposed manager of the Milwaukee Brewer baseball club, looked today for a speedy settlement with the club owners of financial matters pertaining to his Brewer stock and a contract which still has three years to run.

"My representative, an expert on such matters, is now going over the club's books in order to evaluate my holdings," Sothoron said, "and I expect that everything will be cleared up quickly and permit me to look for new baseball connections. I have some plans in mind but will hold off on them until the Brewer matter is disposed of. There is a pile of money due me and I intend to get it."

The Brewer management recently signed Minor (Mickey) Heath, veteran first baseman, to a one-year contract as manager.

Chicago—Davey Day, 137, Chicago, stopped Harvey Woods, 134, St. Paul, (9).

Toledo—Eddie Simms, 198, Cleveland, outpointed Eddie (Unknown) Winston, 198, Hartford, Conn., (10).

Lazzeri Expected to Remain With the Cubs

Chicago — (P) — P. K. Wrigley, president of the Chicago Cubs, said today it was his "impression" that Tony Lazzeri, utility infielder, would remain with the Cubs another year.

Lazzeri, obtained by the Cubs after being given his release by the New York Yankees, saw little active service through most of the 1938 season. Recently he intimated he might "shop around" if given his release by the Cubs and Wrigley pointed out the Cubs would not stand in his way if he had a chance to better himself.

The Cubs owner hinted that should Lazzeri decide to remain with the team he would be used as contact man between the Cubs and their minor league affiliates.

Dizzy Made Deputy; Says He's Out to Get Even With Paul

Chicago — (P) — Dizzy (deputy to you) Dean, Chicago Cub baseball pitcher, is out to "arrest everybody who doesn't look right," and that includes brother Paul, a policeman in his own right in the off season. Dizzy was sworn in yesterday by Sheriff John Toman as a special deputy.

Recently Dizzy explained, "I ran past a stop light on Paul's corner in Dallas just to kid him. He not only whistled me to a stop, but gave me a ticket—and I had to pay."

St. John Beats Kimberly Cagers By 17-16 Score

Late Rally by Papermakers Falls One Point Short

KIMBERLY.—In a game as exciting as any ever seen here, the St. John Hollanders of Little Chute defeated Kimberly Tuesday evening 17 to 16. With Fieweger and Vanden Boogaard of Kimberly out on fouls, the visitors forged ahead by 17 to 10 but a 6-point rally by the home boys brought the enormous crowd to its feet.

Van Dyke started the game off by scoring a bucket from side court. Vanden Heuvel fouled Fieweger and his gift shot gave the Kimberly boys a 3 to 0 lead. Hammen made a long shot from the floor with the quarter ending 3 to 3 in the Papermakers favor.

La Berge took a pass under the basket to score, but Vanden Boogaard fouled Vanden Heuvel who made one of his two gift shots good. Weyenberg tied the score with a shot from under the basket. Van Cuyk got into the game and fouled Hammen, giving St. John a lead of 6 to 5. Van Dyke on a follow up shot, tipped one in, to give the Papermakers the lead at the half 7 to 6.

Vanden Boogaard fouled Weyenberg of Little Chute to open up the third period and his gift shot tied the score. Williams put the ball through the hoop with a shot from under the basket. With La Berge fouling Van Asten twice, the Dutchmen went into the lead, Gaffney taking La Berge place as the third period ended 10 to 5 in the Hollanders favor.

In the last quarter Koehn charged Vanden Boogaard, who made good on his gift shot and Weyenberg of Little Chute fouled Williams who also counted. Fieweger and Vanden Boogaard went out on fouls and it was at this stage of the game that the boys put on a rally. Van Dyke and La Berge buckets and La Berge two gift shots when fouled.

The Kimberly B. squad won over the Little Chute Bs 17 to 10. Although Kimberly trailed 2 to 3 at the quarter and 7 to 8 at the half, they went out in front at the third period 13 to 8. Little Chute got only two gift shots during the last quarter.

Spokane Negro Whips Al Gainer in Slow Go

New York.—(P) Tiger Jack Fox, the aged Spokane, Wash., Negro, who has been haunting the light heavyweight throne room for the past five years, has only Melio Bettina, the Beacon, N. Y., southpaw in his way now.

The coast Negro outpointed Al Gainer of New Haven, Conn., in 15 slow, tiresome rounds at the Bronx Coliseum last night in the first of two elimination bouts ordered by the New York state athletic commission. The winner of the Fox-Bettina brawl will be recognized as champion in this state although the National Boxing association still calls John Henry Lewis king.

But Lewis is not champion here. The commission vacated his title when he failed to meet Fox.

Good Old Days Here Again as Lawrence, Appleton Honor Midwest Football Champs

BY GORDON MCINTYRE
TIME was in the athletic history of Lawrence college and Appleton, when people talked about the good old days and the grid glories of former years. But they were back again last night when Appleton and Lawrence celebrated the close of the 1938 season with the biggest football banquet and program ever held here. And what's more the folks honored a Lawrence college football team that was lone champion of the Midwest conference, something never before accomplished, winner in all but one game for the season.

It all took place at the Masonic temple with approximately 450 enthusiastic persons in attendance, some 30 or more of them members of past Lawrence football teams. And they were profoundly and pleasantly surprised that Appleton and the college could get so "hetup" over football after the many years of doldrums and staggering around in the football wilderness.

Highs in Eclipse
There have been other grid dinners in recent years but because of the championship angle connected with this one, it surpassed them all and even exceeded expectations of promoters and might have been attended by still more had there been facilities. Arranged for Lawrence's squads and Appleton High school, the latter was somewhat in eclipse. But then, perhaps the Terrors will have their time when they win a Valley conference title.

Starting with a dinner that was not more than a few minutes behind the scheduled time, and that was served with the utmost dispatch while Carl McKee got the folk kicked to the occasion with a few songs which were sung well and not so well, the program got under way formally with a word of greeting from Dr. R. H. Purdy, president of Appleton Chamber of Commerce. He then turned the meeting over to Joseph Koffend who acted as toastmaster.

H. O. "Fritz" Crisler, head football coach at the University of Michigan and assistant athletic director, and the main speaker of the evening, was immediately called upon because he wished to leave as soon as possible. Previous to the dinner, Crisler had met with the Michigan club of Northeastern Wisconsin, informally at the temple.

Cole Awards Letters
Following Crisler, Coach Wallace Cole of Appleton High school took over and awarded letters to members of his squad. Coach Bernie Heslton of Lawrence followed and expressed thanks for the cooperation shown by the college administration, alumni, townspeople and newspapers.

For probably the first time all season, he admitted he had some pretty fair material although there wasn't so much in numbers, and that the team had gotten its share of the breaks thereby winning the title. He also praised Assistant Coach Ade Dillon for his work with the linemen and scouting, and Coach Arthur C. Denney for his help in getting him acquainted with Lawrence practices.

Heslton first made the freshman numeral awards and pointed out that the squad had averaged 1.5 points per man scholastically, which gave it a high rating. He mentioned that some of the men were exceptional students and that many Fries had a 216 game, Ed Starnard 213, Dick Wenzlaff 201 and 200, and F. Schultz 200 as Jenss Clothiers won two from Dr. Small and hung up the best team scores of the evening, 986 for game and 2809 for match. For the losers, J. Strebel hit 201 and 508, E. Parfitt 205, and R. Rippl 208.

Meyer was a member of the Mellow Brew team that took two from Krogh Paints. The highest turned in by the winners was Schaefer's 548. For the losers, Cap Loper rolled 208 and 530.

Tornow tossed games of 212 and 201 in reaching his high series, M. Kranzusch hit 204, and C. Tornow 219 as the Conway hotel won all three from Hornel Good Food. Outstanding in the Hornel column were Fauman's 201 game and Hauert's 583 series.

J. Horn cracked 214 and 583 as Adler Brau outbowed Stark's Bar in two out of three games. Behnke's 574 series, Krabbe's 215, and Grimmer's 208 were standouts for the losers.

6 Milwaukeeans On Amateur Card

Schuemperli, D'Amico Will Show in Wind-up Contests

DATE IS DEC. 8

Lutz, Lamers, Eisch, Robbins Will Represent Valley

THE CARD
Eddie Troxel, Oshkosh, versus Douglas O'Toole, Fond du Lac, three rounds at 130 pounds.
Chippy Lutz, Appleton, versus Marly Collura, Milwaukee, three rounds at 138 pounds.
Hoxey Lamers, Little Chute, versus Erv Zipse, Milwaukee, three rounds at 142 pounds.
Frank Eisch, Appleton, versus Joe Berger, Milwaukee, three rounds at 150 pounds.
Al Robbins, Oshkosh, versus Johnny Roszina, Milwaukee, three rounds at 155 pounds.
John Francisco, Ripon College, versus Connie Schuemperli, Milwaukee, five rounds at 128 pounds.
Al Scarlatia, Chicago, C.Y.O. champion, versus Peter D'Amico, Milwaukee, five rounds at 122 pounds.

A BOXING card that will feature six Milwaukee boys who are rated among the best in that city, and several of whom have fought here before, has been arranged by Once Johnston post of the American Legion for Thursday evening, Dec. 8, at Armory G.

Topping the card is Peter D'Amico, a wee Italian lad who showed here last season with Earl Noel in a bout that brought the fans to their feet. D'Amico is paired with Al Scarlatia who battled for St. Norbert college for several years, and who has appeared here often. Both boys lost a lot of leather.

Since he last appeared here, D'Amico has been having a great time around Milwaukee. He defeated George Raush, a golden gloves feather champion, but lost a nod to Jesse Garcia, C.Y.O. champion at Racine, but it was a highly unpopular decision and the crowd booed it long and merrily.

Another windup performer is Connie Schuemperli who also appeared last season and tagged Lauren Chesley in the fourth round and won a verdict. Schuemperli will meet John Francisco, Ripon college student and boxing instructor, who is a highly rated performer. Schuemperli also showed at Menasha and stopped Floyd Hagen, St. Paul. He is a diamond belt winner in Milwaukee winning the honor in a go with Pete D'Amico.

ROSZINA VERSUS ROBBINS
Johnny Roszina, who will clash with Al Robbins, Oshkosh, is dubbed the fighting farmer from South Milwaukee. Roszina is the youngest of three fighting brothers, and in recent demand. He likes to mix and in Robbins he'll find another chap who can stand toe to toe and slug and come back for more. Phil Robbins, Green Bay, is among Roszina's victims.

Erv Zipse will be matched with Hoxey Lamers, Little Chute. Built like the Rock of Gibraltar, Zipse can hand out punishment as well as take it. He is strictly a club fighter and always gives action. He is slated to become one of the best performers in Milwaukee and is seeking a go with Jimmy Pierce who made a sensational showing here with a 1-round K.O. last month.

Joe Berger and Frankie Eisch, Appleton, have been paired in what should be another top bout. Eisch has been coming along fast in recent months and in Berger will tackle a boxer and a puncher, if necessary.

The sixth Milwaukeean is Marly Collura and he is matched with Chippy Lutz, Appleton.

All the Milwaukee boys now are competing in the Milwaukee diamond belt tournament.

Clintonville Wins In Tri-County Loop

Clintonville—Last night the Clintonville Transport basketball team opened its home season in the Bi-County league when it defeated the Bear Creek squad by a score of 18 to 11. Both squads were composed of former high stars. The Clintonville squad was limited to only members of the Transport club.

The scoring was well distributed on the Transport squad with no one scoring two baskets. Harold Hedke was high point man for the victors with one bucket and two free throws for 3 points. For the Bear Creek squad, Cliff Flanagan was high with two baskets and one free throw for five points.

Manawa Winner Over Wittenberg, 26 to 18

Manawa—Coming from behind in the second quarter, Manawa High school basketball team defeated Wittenberg here last night, 26 to 18, in a non-conference game. Wittenberg led 6 to 4 at the end of the open period but Manawa was in front 16 to 10 at the half and 18 to 15 at the third quarter.

Hutchins Proposes Program For De-Emphasizing Football

NEW YORK (AP)—President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, campaigning for "more athletics and less athletics" in American colleges and universities, yesterday proposed a four-point program for de-emphasis of college football in an article in the latest issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

Under Hutchins' plan for a group of colleges and universities "composed, say, of Amherst, Williams, Dartmouth, Harvard, Yale, Chicago, Michigan, Stanford and California" would agree to:

- 1—Reduce admission to football games to 10 cents. "Colleges should support athletics out of their budgets," says Hutchins, "or get out of athletics, or out of education."
- 2—"Give the director of athletics and the major coaches some kind of academic tenure, so that their jobs depend on their ability as instructors and their character as men and not on the gates they draw."
- 3—"Broaden the base of athletic participation, so that all students, graduate and undergraduate, big fellows and little fellows, can play."
- 4—"Emphasize games which students will play in later life, when they need recreation and physical fitness as much as in college. Few college graduates are able to use football, baseball or basketball, except as topics of conversation."

"The trouble with football," says Hutchins, "is the money that is in it. Money is the cause of athletics. Athletics is physical education, a proper function of the college if carried on for the welfare of the students. Athletics is not physical education but sports promotion, and it is carried on for the monetary profit of the colleges through the entertainment of the public."

The list follows:

Clyde Stephenson, Sturgeon Bay; Charles Berge, Elmhurst, Ill.; Leonard Stoll, Sheboygan; Willard Johnson, Oshkosh; Jim Straubel, Green Bay; Cliff Olsen, ends; Dr. J. Allen Boyden, Green Bay; Dr. J. L. Laird, Milwaukee Creek; Donald J. McGlynn, Milwaukee; and Wylie Sampson, Wausau, tackles.

R. K. Wolter, Appleton, and Richard "Red" Smith, Green Bay, guards.

Elmer Abrahamson, Oshkosh, Eddie Kotal, Stevens Point; Harry Sylvester, Appleton; Albert Novakowski, Menasha; Bob Wiley, Chippewa Falls; Charles Pond, Appleton; Pete Briese, Wabeno; Dr. Walter Tippet, Green Bay; C. E. Pierce, Menasha; C. O. Gochbauer, Appleton; Paul Fischl, Manitowish; Gerhardt Kubit, Manitowish; and Prof. J. H. Farley, Appleton, backs.

Elmer "Shorty" Shergar, Evansville, and William Smith, Milwaukee, centers.

Among other former gridriders present were Charles Holmes, Appleton; Bob Hipke, Milwaukee, and Gordon Windsor, Manitowish.

The football team having received all evening, it then took its turn presenting a few awards and tokens with Joe Maertzwiler in the role of spokesman, a role he handled very well considering the fact that it was tough, mighty tough for a fellow who was making his last appearance as a member of a Vike grid squad.

To Ralph Walts, business manager of the college, the squad gave a picture of the team with a commendation for the arrangements made for it on trips and before the homecoming game when the boys were quartered at Neenah.

Barrows Gets Ripon Game Ball

President Barrows was given the ball used in the Ripon game and to be autographed by all players. Assistant Coach Ad Dillon was given a traveling bag by the varsity, not that the boys wanted him to go, as Joe said, but for use on scouting trips which helped so much this year. The freshmen squad gave Dillon a leather bill fold and key case.

And then came a gift for Coach Heseltin, and Maertzwiler, closing his college career under Bernie, and with the memory of four years at Milwaukee East division and one here, found it his most trying job saying good by.

It was his final expression, said haltingly, by a chap that meant it, "so long as coach is here, Lawrence will always have championship teams."

And with that the program was turned back to Dr. Purdy who thanked the college, high school, Lawrence Men's club, the former greats, Michigan club and everyone who had helped make the dinner and program a success.

The meeting then broke up with the gridriders the recipients of many a handshake and a pat on the back, with the former greats renewing acquaintances which have laid dormant for many, many years and the swapping of stories that carried far into the night.

Believe it or not—happy days, the good old days—are here again!

Trojans Worry About Ramblers

Have Rose Bowl Prestige To Maintain in Saturday's Classic

Los Angeles (AP)—Southern California's football chieftains, praised and denounced for inviting Duke to the Rose Bowl, side-tracked further discussion on the matter today and pointed to the coming battle with Notre Dame as something better to talk about.

The encounter, 13th annual clash between the two universities, commands the top spot of the nation's fading football season next Saturday. About 95,000 fans were expected to attend the game.

For the Irish, undefeated, untied and marching on to claim the mythical national grid championship, the engagement offers a chance to knock over the far west's entry in the big Pasadena post-season game.

The outcome will have no bearing on Southern California's appearance in the Rose Bowl, but a Notre Dame victory would again splotch the far west's record. U. S. C. having been beaten twice this season.

A Trojan triumph, however, would restore immeasurable prestige to football in the Pacific coast conference.

The series at present stands: Notre Dame, seven victories; S. C. four and one tie. On the basis of the teams' records this year, with S. C. loser to Alabama and Washington, and Notre Dame wading through one of the most difficult schedules in the land with never a defeat, the Irish should be favored to win.

Tucson, Ariz.—Notre Dame's fighting Irish, on route to Los Angeles for an intercollegiate football game with Southern California Saturday, will pay their eighth practice visit to the University of Arizona gridiron today.

Coach Elmer Layden notified Arizona athletic officials the Ramblers, 36 strong, would run through a public drill soon after detaining this morning.

Layden will lock the gates for an afternoon drill and two Thursday sessions before boarding a train for Yuma, Ariz., where the Irish will go through a short limbering up workout Friday morning.

Goons Win Five Out of Nine Games in Handball

The Goons retained the lead in the Turkey tournament Tuesday by adding five out of a possible nine games to bring the score to 12 and 6 in their favor. In the matches played yesterday Ray H. Risch and John Mullen, Jr., of the Goons, defeated Homer and George Gebhardt in 3 straight games. In the second match, Jerome Kaplan and Clayton Kille annexed three games for the Droops by defeating Lawrence Blaisdell and Bill Starck in three straight. The third match provided an upset when George Tomlinson and Karl Kreick of the Goons took two out of three from Don Hagerla and Bill Playman.

Two matches will be played at 5 p. m. Wednesday when Frank Wheeler and Frans Larson meet Ed. Tourtelotte and Bob Strassburger. This promises to be a battle royal as it will bring together captains of the opposing teams. At 5:45 Jack Notebart and Ken Westberg tangle with Dr. R. C. Joyce and Leo J. Murphy.

The dinner will be held at 6:15 Thursday evening at which time suitable prizes will be awarded the winning team. Frank Wheeler, chairman of the handball committee will act as toastmaster.

Two Cardinal Gridders Report for Basketball

Madison (AP)—Prospects of a winning basketball team were lifted today when Bob Weigandt, veteran guard, from Oshkosh, reported to the University of Wisconsin class squad, along with Orville Fischer, Fargo, N. D., junior.

Weigandt has won two letters in the backcourt for the Badgers and is expected to plug a gap left open by the graduation of Lee Mitchell and Mannie Frey, regulars last year.

Fisher, a reserve center on the grid squad, will be used at a guard post.

However, Foster stuck to the five men who started the two frosh games, as his opening line-up for Friday's curtain raiser against Beloit. He had Byron Bell, of Neenah, at center; Dave Dupee, of Freeport, Ill., and Andy Smith, of Wausau, at forwards and Ernie Davis and Johnny Rundell, both of Madison, at the guards.

Green Bay West Five Nips Algoma, 19 to 6

Green Bay—Coach Frosty Ferzacca's Green Bay West cagers opened their season by nipping Algoma High, 19 to 6, here last night.

Leading Wildcat scorer was Godfred Nelson, forward, who parked three buckets. He was seconded by Art Gass, with two.

Two Cardinal Gridders Report for Basketball

Madison (AP)—Prospects of a winning basketball team were lifted today when Bob Weigandt, veteran guard, from Oshkosh, reported to the University of Wisconsin class squad, along with Orville Fischer, Fargo, N. D., junior.

Weigandt has won two letters in the backcourt for the Badgers and is expected to plug a gap left open by the graduation of Lee Mitchell and Mannie Frey, regulars last year.

Fisher, a reserve center on the grid squad, will be used at a guard post.

However, Foster stuck to the five men who started the two frosh games, as his opening line-up for Friday's curtain raiser against Beloit. He had Byron Bell, of Neenah, at center; Dave Dupee, of Freeport, Ill., and Andy Smith, of Wausau, at forwards and Ernie Davis and Johnny Rundell, both of Madison, at the guards.

It is news that the Green Bay pro grid Packers team all winter as a basketball team after the football season is over.

Arn Herber is the sharpshooter of the outfit.

Is this one for the books—or is it? Jack Johnson of Norborne (Mo.) high kicked off to Hardin high to open the second half of their game, and Hardin punted back from its own 30.

Jack took the boot and rumped 70 yards down the left side to touchdown-land.

He kicked off again; again Hardin punted back from its own 30, and again he took the return punt just 70 yards down the left side to yard.

Both scores came on exact series of plays.

Sounds like one of those "this is where we came in stunts"—but Norborne Coach Bud Purpus will give you an affidavit on it.

Safety Play Assures Bid In Queer Hand

BY ELY CULBERTSON
Last Wednesday's Questions
Question 40: Both sides vulnerable. You are South. You deal and hold:

Q1085 ♠AK10862 ♣73 ♠4
What call do you make?
Answer: You should bid one heart. You are a shade under the 24 honor trick requirements, but your excellent distribution (strength in both major suits) makes an opening bid imperative. Your partner may have far less than the requirements for an opening bid, yet there may be an excellent play for game in hearts or spades. (Twelve points merit for passing; 24 points merit for any other bid.)

Question 41: Only East-West are vulnerable. North-South have 40 part score. The bidding proceeds:

South West North East
1diamond Pass 2clubs 2spades

You are South and hold:

1063 ♠AQ9 ♣KQJ88 ♠62

What call do you make and why?
Answer: You should pass. It is true that a mere three diamond bid, if fulfilled, would give you game, but your partner knows the score as well as you do and he may choose to double to stop a game. It is quite possible that East, even though vulnerable, stretched his bid to stop a game. If he did, and your partner can double, your holding and distribution should aid toward a very large penalty. You must not deprive North of the opportunity to double if his hand warrants. (Twenty points merit for any bid.)

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Here is a peculiar hand that actually occurred in a snappy fifth of a cent game. I call the play in question the super safety play. Maybe you will laugh at the play I made; maybe you will say that I am a typical Casper. Well, I don't know, but nevertheless I like the play and I'm very proud of it.

"I was South, declarer at a three no trump contract. West opened the deuce of diamonds, dummy played low, and East put up the ten. I could see all sorts of end plays looming up against the opponents. I could guess one of three finesses for my ninth trick. O, I could do a lot of things, but every one of them might turn out badly. I therefore made what I think the super safety play and allowed East to hold the first diamond trick! If West's lead of the deuce was honest, then East had no more diamonds to return. A lead of any of the other three suits would provide my ninth trick. And not only that, I would boast of an end play on the first trick.

"What do you think of it? Proudly yours, Mrs. A. J. L., Memphis, Tenn."

Very neat! I think the City of Memphis should appoint you correspondent to the city safety council.

My Neighbor Says—

Sliced tomatoes dipped in grated cheese, placed on toast and browned in a moderate oven are delicious snacks to serve with coffee.

Lipstick stains on linens and cottons can nearly always be removed by the use of warm water and mild soap suds.

If you like a faint flavor of onion rub a slice of onion around your salad bowl or serving dish. The resulting flavor is light but satisfactory. Garlic used in the same manner requires much more careful handling, since fewer people enjoy a garlic taste.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Pretty Eleanor Hansen of R.K.O. demonstrates an excellent exercise for flattening the stomach. From a lying position, she comes up and balances on her spine in good posture while her feet remain off the floor.

Next to good posture at all times, those exercises which strengthen your diaphragm are the most essential to master, if you want to re-countour your figure into one of beauty.

Perhaps it is because women tend to lean on their stomachs in off moments, or get lazy about their posture, but the common complaint of women whose figures are unattractive is: "I cannot flatten my stomach."

The abdominal region contains nearly all of the vital organs of the body. Therefore it is imperative that the muscles which cover them and hold them in their correct positions, should be strong and elastic. These very muscles aid the organs to carry on their natural functions and thus permit you to be healthy. If you allow them to grow weak and say into what is termed "a protruding stomach," you not only have a wretched figure, but you are inviting poor health.

A little will-power will do wonders to flatten your midriff. As you walk and sit, consciously draw in your stomach by inhaling quickly and raising your bosom. Your shoulders should be relaxed, not hunched. If you do it correctly you will want to "grow tall" as you inhale and you will automatically adjust position of your head and neck.

Concentrated Movement

One of my Hollywood pets, Eleanor Hansen, posed again to illustrate an exercise which strengthens the stomach muscles, and it is one every woman should do daily at home.

Lie flat on the floor, arms at sides and stretch your feet down and your head up. In other words "grow tall" which you are lying on the floor. On one count bring yourself up to a sitting position with feet about two inches above the floor and arms stretched out at shoulder level.

All the work is done with the stomach muscles. Do not push yourself up with your arms. Learn to rise up in a rocking motion and balance on the end of your spine. Feet off floor, back straight, chin lifted, shoulders high. It is difficult at first but keep trying for once you master it your stomach muscles are that much stronger and your stomach within three weeks will be much, much less obvious!

My leaflet "Beautifying Your Midriff" gives other important diaphragm exercises. It is yours for a self-addressed, stamped 3-cent envelope. Address me care of this paper.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane

Psychologist, Northwestern University

If you wish to have an exciting hobby, be sure to select the one mentioned below, for it brings untold zest for living, and will add more money to your pay check than any other hobby you could select.

CASE L-181: Hal W., aged 31, is a certified public accountant.

A few years ago he took some courses in psychology from me in my evening school.

"It was then that I realized I was an extreme introvert," he recently confessed.

"So I entered sales work on a part time basis. It was hard at first, but I grew to like it more and more. In fact, I got so I actually enjoyed meeting people.

"It was fun trying to get along with them. Being an accountant up till that time I had never paid much attention to human beings. Ledgers and adding machines had been my main friends.

"Six months ago I obtained a good job with an accounting firm. My knowledge of people and salesmanship has already led to a $50 per month salary increase.

"Now my boss wants me to go in partnership with him. He says in all his experience he has never previously met an accountant who could sell ideas to clients or customers. He feels that he could make money installing a simplified accounting system for various concerns. What should I do, Dr. Crane?"

DIAGNOSIS:

Hal illustrates the great value of salesmanship, even in fields which are considered very far removed from such exproveritive work.

The average accountant is an introvert. He doesn't like sales work, nor does he see any value in it for himself. But our salary increases in all fields of endeavor depend on how well we can sell ourselves and our abilities.

There are hundreds of admirably trained physicians and dentists in every large city who are nearly starving to death.

And it isn't because they cannot render topnotch professional services. Nor is it simply because free clinics are taking their pay clients away from them.

It is chiefly because they don't know how to sell themselves and scientific medicine or dentistry. They sit patiently waiting in an office, but few visitors come to see them except magazine salesmen.

Most Children Under 12 Should Be Excused From Funeral Rites

BY ANGELO PATRI

A mother writes in to ask if children should be taken to funerals. That must be a matter of personal taste, personal understanding of the children, and personal common sense. My notion about it is that most children under twelve, would be better off if they did not attend such a ceremony. But it depends upon the circumstances.

If the children are closely related to the dead the funeral service is a terrible strain. They cannot understand the implications of death; they are in the midst of tragedy; tears, mourning and desolation. If they are sensitive, and most children are, they suffer keenly and without comfort, for they are lost in such a situation. Would it not be better to keep them from the funeral and the interment?

It used to be fashionable to dress the children of the bereaved family in deep black and range them in the front row as a symbol of family suffering. We have learned better than to do that. Rarely now do we see children abused that way. The style went out along with the full length crepe veil for the widow, the crepe bonnet and the deep black folds of the ugly stuff on her dress. We might go a bit further now and spare the children a ceremony they can only endure without comprehending to any extent its meaning or its relation to them.

Black dresses are not healthy for children. Wearing them or living with people who habitually wear them is depressing because they are constant reminders of grief over death. If people truly believe in the words of the funeral service the funeral black is a contradiction to their faith.

There is no salve for the wounds death makes. There is no sense in pretending that there is. Those who suffer bereavement must endure until time and life's stimulation to service heals the wound and lets the scar knit over it. But black clothes and perpetual grieving will not hasten the healing process nor lighten the burdened heart. Acceptance, understanding of life's way with us, and the memory of happier times, is best.

In one sense there is no death. The life of a soul on earth lasts beyond his departure. You will always feel that life touching yours, that voice speaking to you, that spirit looking out of other eyes, talking to you in the familiar things he touched, worked with, loved as familiar friends. He lives on in your life and in the lives of all others that knew him.

There is no ceremony, no pomp, no decoration adequate to the dignity of Death. He is stark, alone, unreachable, beyond human understanding. His presence calls for acceptance of a fact tremendous in its finality, simple in its supreme majesty. Children we all must be in his presence, for he knows no class, no condition, no ceremony, but his own. Each of us must meet him, on his terms, alone, an angel of relief. Spare the children.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Says Problem of Idle Woman Is More Than Financial One

BY DOROTHY DIX

Listen, all of you middle-aged sisters who have lost your husbands or your money or your jobs, and who have sunk down to the do-nothing stool while you wait out that there is nothing a woman can get to do by which she can earn a living after she loses the glamour of youth.

Here are great news for you. Two women prophets have arisen to lead you out of the valley of despair to the green hills of prosperity, and to show you that the door of opportunity is just as wide open to the woman who has lost her figure as it is to a string-bean flapper, if only she has enough energy and enterprise to batter on it.

These two women to whom fate had done its darndest in the way of personal sorrows, sickness, bad luck and business failures that, breaking banks and jobs, refused to believe that woman is automatically down and out when she is no longer young and beautiful. So they started out to test by actual experience what a woman can get to do when she is middle-aged by which she can support herself.

And they have written a book about their adventures that they call "We Are Forty and We Did Get Jobs" that is published by the Lippincotts. It is as entertaining as fiction, as full of common sense and practical advice as an egg is of meat, and is so overflowing with the gospel of hope and courage that it should brace up the backbone of the flabbiest feminine whiner, and make her roll up her sleeves and go out and find something to do.

The problem of the idle woman is more than financial. It is psychic and moral, for no one will deny that a great deal of the misery in the world is caused by women who have nothing to do except to stir up trouble. Nearly every family has one of these parasites hanging on it, sucking out its life blood of peace and happiness.

Sometimes, it is a mother, who is stronger and healthier in her forties and fifties than she was in her twenties. She goes to live with her children and her husband dies, and is so overflowing with vitality that she cannot keep from meddling in the affairs of her family. Sometimes it is a widowed daughter who has come back home when her husband passes away and leaves her penniless. Or it may be a sister who has been thrown out of the work in which she was engaged. But, however it is, the situation is the same, and it is always tragical.

Idle women, with nothing to do except to brood over their misfortune. Women eating the bread of dependence and finding it bitter in their mouths. Unhappy, humiliated women who take out their discontent and their hurt pride on every one they meet.

We must pay deserved tribute to the salesman for equipping our homes with electric lights and washing machines, refrigerators and automobiles, vacuum cleaners and bath tubs.

A few months of sales training are invaluable, even for scientific men like physicians and accountants, professors and chemists.

If you don't understand people, you are likely to stay in a blind alley job for life, or let others run circles around you, even though you have equal or possibly superior ability.

Your boss and your sweetheart cannot read your mind. You must show them your merits and qualifications for a salary increase or the right to place a wedding band on their finger. This is salesmanship.

The Most Interesting Hobby

If your primary job is accounting or mechanics, at least make the study of people your hobby. Use this column as a textbook on this fascinating subject.

An accountant who knows psychology will run circles around an accountant whose skill is limited only to ledger sheets. I urged Hal to go ahead with the new venture. He is doubly equipped for success in that he knows accounting as well as salesmanship.

(Dr. Crane will give personal attention to questions on psychological problems. Write him in care of this newspaper, inclosing a 3-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply. Letters and readers' names are never published.)

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

HUSBAND NUMBER TWO

Dear Mrs. Post: I was married some years ago and my husband died. Went back to business and continued to use his name both in business and in private life. Then I married again. I still continued to use my first husband's name in business because it was by this name that I had become known in business. Now I've been discovered. May I discard my second husband's name entirely and use my first husband's name socially as well as in business?

Answer: Since you evidently do not want to use the formal "Mrs. John Brown and Miss Mary Brown" wish you a Merry Christmas, etc., you might have your signatures printed at the end of the greeting, "Sara Brown and Mary Brown."

The Respect Due A Widow-Bride

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a middle-aged widow intending to marry soon. My fiancé wants me to meet his children, who are all married and living in the same town, but not in the town where both he and I make our homes. None of his children has a spare room so that they could invite me to stay with them. He thinks it will be all right for me to stay at the hotel where I shall certainly be more comfortable and that he can be put up at one of their houses or else stay in the hotel too. None of his family has written to me since they were told about our engagement, nor have they sent me any invitation so I have no way of knowing—except from what their father tells me—that they approve of our marriage. I would like to please him, and to meet his children, and yet I have a curious feeling that such arrangements may place me in a questionable position. Will you tell me how you feel about this situation and what you would advise me to do.

Answer: It would be best, of course, if his children could go to where you live. But if they have families that cannot be left and moreover, since they are many and you are only one to make the journey, it would be quite all right for you to go to some gesture of welcome is first made by them. In other words, they should each write and tell you that they hope you are coming to their town with their father, and that they are looking forward to meeting you. I think to go without any word from them would be belittling to you, which

AT-HOME FROCK

BY ANNE ADAMS

An at-home style that's a positive delight to the woman with curves to slenderize! It's one of the cleverest of Anne Adams creations—using panels to help flatten the diaphragm, and "soft" details to give the rest of the figure equally youthful proportions! Why not hurry in your order for Pattern 4858 at once, so you can make up this frock in time for holiday hostessing? There's a big sheet of illustrated instructions, called the Sewing Instructor, to make you enjoy your dressmaking to the full. And, as you'll note, the number of pattern pieces is small—the trimmings of ric-rac and buttons easy to add. Have either short or open-cup sleeves, both so comfy!

my business? I can't tell you how much I would like to do this.

Answer: I don't know what the legal ruling upon this may be, but I do know of more than a score of cases where this exact thing has been done. Many of those who have taken back their first husbands' names have done so for business reasons as in your own case. The most typical case is that of the woman whose children are those of her first husband and she naturally preferred to have the same name as theirs.

Christmas Cards

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you tell me how mother (a widow) and I (a spinster living with her) should have our Christmas cards printed. We like to have one card printed with both names and nothing too formal.

Answer: Since you evidently do not want to use the formal "Mrs. John Brown and Miss Mary Brown" wish you a Merry Christmas, etc., you might have your signatures printed at the end of the greeting, "Sara Brown and Mary Brown."

The Respect Due A Widow-Bride

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a middle-aged widow intending to marry soon. My fiancé wants me to meet his children, who are all married and living in the same town, but not in the town where both he and I make our homes. None of his children has a spare room so that they could invite me to stay with them. He thinks it will be all right for me to stay at the hotel where I shall certainly be more comfortable and that he can be put up at one of their houses or else stay in the hotel too. None of his family has written to me since they were told about our engagement, nor have they sent me any invitation so I have no way of knowing—except from what their father tells me—that they approve of our marriage. I would like to please him, and to meet his children, and yet I have a curious feeling that such arrangements may place me in a questionable position. Will you tell me how you feel about this situation and what you would advise me to do.

Answer: It would be best, of course, if his children could go to where you live. But if they have families that cannot be left and moreover, since they are many and you are only one to make the journey, it would be quite all right for you to go to some gesture of welcome is first made by them. In other words, they should each write and tell you that they hope you are coming to their town with their father, and that they are looking forward to meeting you. I think to go without any word from them would be belittling to you, which

Personal Side of Medicine Vital, Crownhart States

Doctor Should be Responsible Only to Patient, He Says

Any plan of socialized medicine that takes away the personalized service of the physician and makes him responsible to someone other than his patient will not benefit public health, J. G. Crownhart, executive secretary of the Wisconsin State Medical society, told members of the Appleton Rotary club, doctors, dentists, and nurses yesterday in the Conway hotel.

Crownhart, who studied the socialized medicine systems of several European countries during a trip this fall, declared that doctors who work under them are hedged in between the "demands of the patient on one side and the demands of a system anxious for him to economize on the other."

"He said that the systems all have 'inherent shortcomings' and that they 'tend to ignore the steady progress of medical science' by discouraging expensive services such as X-ray and others because administrators 'must balance the budget.' None of the countries which have adopted health insurance plans have raised premiums since, Crownhart said. 'That's all right as far as the working man's wage is concerned, but medicine doesn't stand still.'"

"Prescription Booklet"

Crownhart cited the example of an "average prescription booklet used in one country which physicians are supposed to use in recommending prescriptions for their patients. 'If the doctor decides it would be advisable to use a highly expensive drug not recommended in the booklet or a new one not even mentioned in the pamphlet, he's liable to be brought before a board for a hearing and have the cost of the prescription taken out of his salary.'"

Asserting that doctors of Wisconsin are doing everything in their power to cooperate with any workable proposals for health plans, Crownhart said that if any such scheme is to operate at its best it must recognize that "the needs of the sick man is what should dictate the extent of the services" and that a doctor should not have so many patients that he is not able to look after each one adequately.

In European countries practicing socialized medicine, Crownhart said, doctors must have enough patients to look after so they can be assured of sufficient salaries. He indicated that the personal touch is lacking under this system.

"8-Hour Day"

The state medical society official related an incident portraying the operation of the "8-hour day" in socialized medicine systems abroad. He said he visited one physician who "took the receiver off the phone at 8 o'clock in the evening."

Crownhart asked him when he restored the phone to working order and the doctor replied at 8 o'clock the following morning. When the American inquired what occurred in case of emergency calls, the doctor replied that there were younger doctors available at all hours. The doctor, Crownhart said, admitted that were he to operate on a man in the afternoon and complications arise during the night, he would be in the best position to know what to do, but that was the system under which he worked.

Declaring that "you can't define sickness in the law," Crownhart said that were a health insurance system modeled after the Europeans established in this state, "you wouldn't be able to get your own family doctor."

He said that "no system which would make the familiar, friendly family doctor unwelcome at the door of homes" would ever be beneficial.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Colman—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the worst looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

SURE! I'M BUILDING A HOME THIS WINTER...

---And of Course It Will Be "DURHAM BUILT"

You know, I've always wanted a home and at last I'm in a position to go ahead with my plans for a home of my own — But up to a short time ago I thought that I would have to wait until spring to build — You see, I figured the same as a good many folks do, that Spring, Summer and early Fall were the best and in fact the only "seasons" to build — But I was wrong, dead wrong. It happened that I was discussing home building plans with "DURHAM'S" a few days ago — with the emphasis on Next Spring. . . . They suggested, "Why not Build This Winter."

Of course I thought (figuring from the antiquated basis of seasonal building) this was a costly, inconvenient and impractical idea, but I was soon convinced to the contrary.

. . . The facts and figures presented convinced me that Winter is not only as good a time to build as the so called building months: AND in addition has certain decided advantages.

. . . For instance — Prices are more stabilized during the Winter period, the tendency always being for costs on many or all items to advance during Spring and stay up till late Fall. So you see it's more economical to build in Winter.

. . . Also the best workmen are more readily available — something which is not always the case during the rush months.

. . . Going further into facts and figures, "DURHAM'S", showed me how home building in large cities is carried on despite seasonal changes, and how, for instance, years ago automobiles were put up on "jacks" in the garage until spring. . . . And that the same type of scientific progress and achievement which enabled auto manufacturers to build an all season car, enables DURHAM'S to build you a home whenever you want it, — no postponing for six months or more for you and your family to move into your OWN HOME.

. . . They showed me how completely equipped they were to build homes — without a single bit of inconvenience to the prospective home owner — due to cold weather, snow and ice. — And to prove it — showed me a number of "DURHAM WINTER-BUILT HOMES."

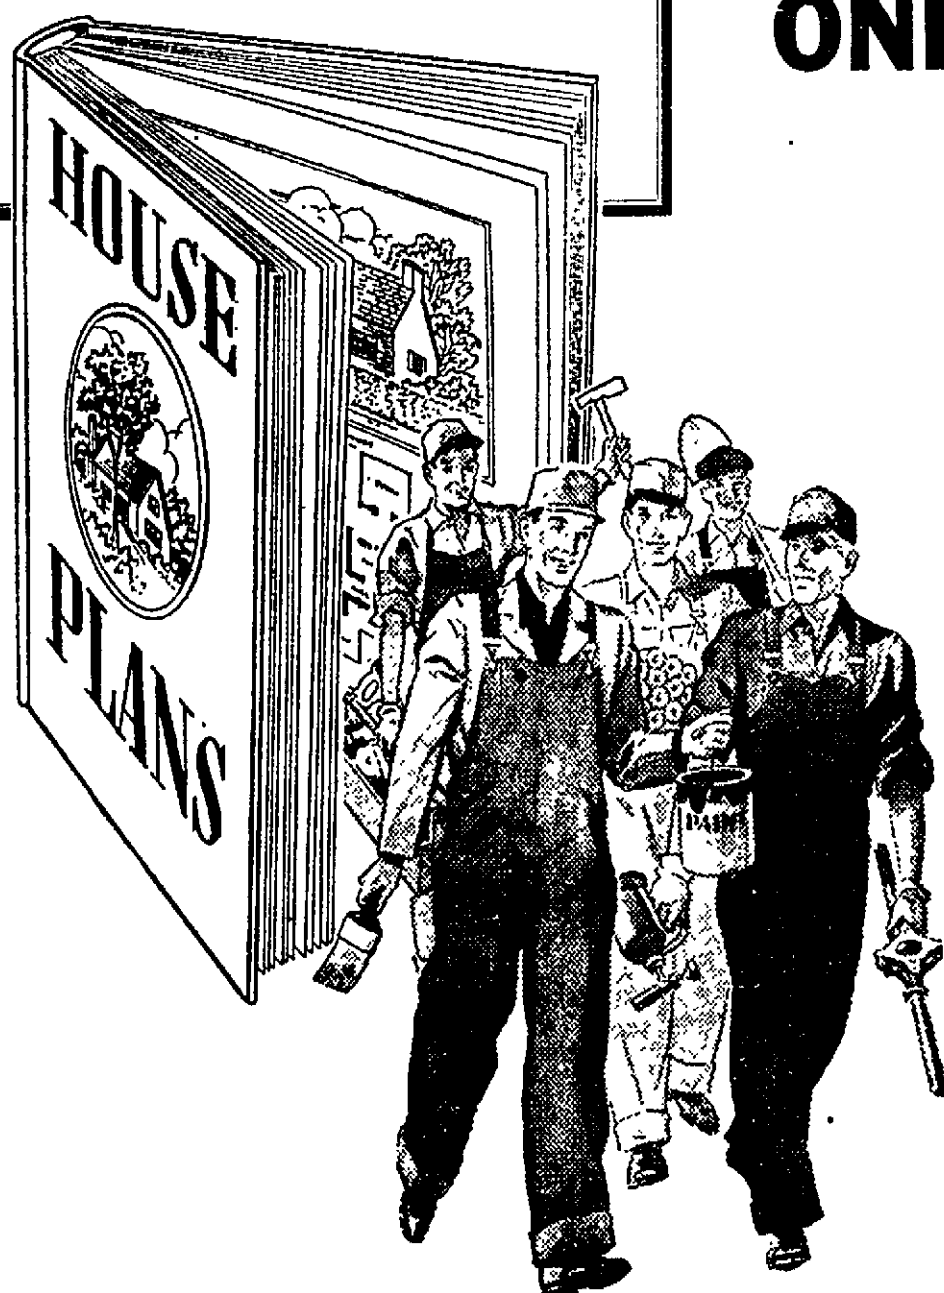

YES SIR! If you're Smart you'll take a tip from me and build that home you want NOW.

Miss Bethurum Tells Club of Beauty in Villages of England

Neenah—In contrast to the perfectly hideous small towns, one horror after another through the length and breadth of United States," the English villages are beautiful, made possible through a "firm sense of communal living, sense of communal architecture and the preservation by man of the homely rich beauty of a great country although the climate and heating conditions never make for much comfort," Miss Frances Dorothy Bethurum, Lawrence college professor, told members of the Woman's Tuesday club at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon in Neenah Public library.

In discussing the footpaths in the English countryside, Miss Bethurum stated that she believed that the strength of the English people lies primarily in the fact that they are a rural people without being provincial.

"I wonder why in America, we have lost the art of walking?" said Miss Bethurum. "Is it because we are a nation of fallen arches or because we have ridden in cars too long? There are no places to walk if one did wish to do so. One can't walk along the Fox river nor along Lake Winnebago yet they are as beautiful as any of England."

Lack Love of Land

"Because of the lost art of walking, because of our hurry and bustle about life, we seem to lack the feel and love of the land, that intimate connection with the soil, from which the real strength of a civilization must come."

Miss Bethurum attributed the beauty of English villages to their feudal origin as she stated that the absolute harmony of the villages with the surroundings, the sense of quiet independence, the out-of-door characteristics of the English all have a tremendous effect upon English character.

The speaker also briefly discussed the three libraries, British museum, Oxford and Cambridge libraries in which she worked during her 2-year study in England.

Chicago — (P) — Opposing forces in the Chicago stockyards strike, apparently no nearer an agreement than they were at the inception of the dispute, marked time today pending resumption of peace negotiations next week.

Prospects of an early settlement faded after yesterday's day long conference failed to break the deadlock.

C. I. O. livestock handlers who quit work Nov. 21 have sought a checkoff, a written contract, and a closed shop, among other concessions, from the Union Stock Yards and Transit company.

Martin Durkin, a state conciliator, said the handlers' representatives asked for another conference today or tomorrow but that O. T. Henkle, general manager of the yards, found it impossible to renew peace negotiations until Monday.

Meanwhile, the world's biggest livestock market continued inactive except for the disposal of less than 4,000 animals which arrived in the yards since the strike began.

Under an agreement between union officials and the Chicago Livestock Exchange, commission men were granted permission to sell the livestock stranded by the strike.

The exchange board of directors renewed an appeal to farmers, stockmen and shippers to halt all shipments until the dispute has been settled. Because some livestock has arrived despite previous appeals, the directors declared it was advisable "to negotiate for an embargo on all livestock coming to this market." Charles R. Rice, Exchange president, said railroads could declare such an embargo at any time.

New London—A 2-year stone crushing WPA project approved by the common council two weeks ago was accepted in its final form by the aldermen at a special meeting at the city hall last night.

The project as accepted is for 10,000 yards of crushed stone to be used for improvement of city streets at a total overall cost of $19,186. The city's share as sponsor will amount to $8,295 and a large part of this amount will be written off through rental of city equipment. Federal funds will provide $10,891 for labor. The stone will be crushed at the Mukwa quarry.

F. A. Jennings, superintendent of the Hatten park project, reported that work was nearing completion on the Hatten Memorial stadium and suggested new projects to be launched. Mayor E. W. Wendlandt was instructed to communicate with Madison and Stevens Point officials and ask to incorporate in the present project the construction of a shelter house, filling in of the new athletic field and park roads, and digging out of the proposed lagoons in the park. The work would be financed by the Hatten donation fund of which approximately $7,000 remains.

Order House Numbers

Every house in the city is being re-numbered and a uniform mounting will result.

One thousand feet of snow fence was ordered purchased at approximately $70 to protect highway areas within the city limits. Posts for erecting the fence will be secured from the Hatten park.

The city wood lot opened this week and August Grunwaldt, 1124 Oshkosh street, was elected foreman of the lot by aldermen last night. Other applicants were Frank Longie and Albert Rohloff.

getting started on the recovery, but buying broadened out in the afternoon, taking leading shares to the highest levels of the day.

A brisk opening buying flurry followed reports the French general strike had been broken. The rally did not get going well, however, until a fresh wave of orders flowed into the market after midday.

Dominating attention in financial circles was the French government's handling of the strike. The outcome seemed to relieve financial circles of apprehension which had been overhanging the markets ever since the strike had been announced. The French and British currencies rose in terms of the dollar and Wall Street traders took the exchange rates as a "bullish" cue in security markets.

Bonds recovered with stocks, mostly corporate loans. Major commodities generally held in a restricted zone.

Transactions picked up in the buying flurries and approximated 850,000 shares.

Steel shares attracted a larger following after announcement of an increase in operating schedules in the Youngstown district.

In the curb, moderately higher quotations were registered in Aluminum of America, American Gas and Electric, Electric Bond and Share and Pan American Airways.

In the Chicago grain pit wheat finished unchanged to 1/4 of a cent a bushel lower. Corn was 1/2 down, cotton near the close was 5 to 10 cents a bale higher.

At mid-afternoon the British pound was $4.683, up 2 9-16 cents. The French franc traded at 2.02 11-16 cents, up .01 1-16 of a cent.

Decline in Corn Prices Followed By Dip in Wheat

Considerable Selling by Holders of December Contracts

Chicago — (AP) — Corn market tumbled a cent a bushel led to lower prices on wheat late today, more than wiping out earlier fractional gains.

Persistent selling on the part of holders of December corn contracts was chiefly responsible for the fall of values. Indications pointed to liberal deliveries of corn tomorrow in month-end settlement of accounts.

Receipts were: Wheat 1 car, corn 114, oats 15.

At the close, Chicago corn futures were 1-1/2 lower compared with yesterday's finish, Dec. 47-47 1/2, May 51-50 1/2, wheat unchanged to 1/2 down, Dec. 61 1/2, May 65 1/2, and oats 1-1/2 off.

67 Persons Attend Rotary Dinner at Clintonville Hotel
Clintonville — Sixty-seven persons were seated at a dinner for members of the Rotary club, Rotary Anns and invited couples Monday evening at Hotel Marston. The meal was followed by a program of varied entertainment. Two vocal solos, "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," were sung by Abner Fredenberg, after which there was an old-fashioned spelling match and bingo games. A musical contest was conducted, in which the prize was won by Max Stiege; and the Professor Quiz contest was won by W. A. Olen.

Members of the Clintonville Woman's club and their invited guests were entertained Monday by a mono-drama of Queen Victoria presented by Miss Dorothy Carter of this city. Miss Carter, who studied music and dramatics at Chicago last year, is now attending Oshkosh State Teachers' college. She portrayed various periods in the life of Queen Victoria from her ascension to the throne as a young maiden to her declining years as the beloved queen of England.

Because of the program, the Woman's club dispensed with its monthly business session which will take place Monday afternoon, Dec. 12, at the home of Mrs. Roy Martin, club president.

Arthur H. Rice was honored at a farewell party Monday evening at the Riviera Grille, where a 7 o'clock dinner was served. The affair was sponsored by officers of Gateway Chapter of the NAA, of which Rice was a director and secretary. About thirty were present including chapter members and other friends. Lloyd Bauer, president of Gateway chapter, was toastmaster and called on local business men for short talks. Motion pictures were shown of the dedication of the Clintonville municipal airport on Nov. 5 and 6. The NAA chapter presented a gift to Mr. Rice, who will leave Dec. 1 for his new position at St. Paul. Succeeding him as secretary of the local NAA will be Donald B. Olen.

Fourteen past noble-grands of Rebekah lodge attended the November meeting held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. L. Youngs, 215 N. Main street. A dessert-luncheon was served by Mrs. Youngs and Mrs. Frank Kohl. Five-hundred was played during the evening, the high prize going to Mrs. W. H. Schmidt. The next meeting of the club will be in the form of a Christmas party on Dec. 19, at the home of Mrs. Martin Falk, with Mrs. Anna Johnson as the assistant hostess.

"Waltz Night" will be featured at the dance to be given by Odd Fellows and Rebekahs Friday evening, at their hall in this city. Prizes will be awarded to the best waltzers.

Mrs. Peter Monty has gone to Washington, D. C., where she will spend December with her son Dr. William F. Meggers and family.

Mrs. A. C. Haase was hostess to her bridge club Monday afternoon at her home on Ninth street. Two tables of contract were in play.

'Constitution' Is Topic of Address By Green Bay Man
Seymour — Max Strehlow of Green Bay was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Seymour Woman's club at the high school auditorium Monday evening. He spoke on "The Constitution of the United States."

The colonies were first governed under the Articles of Confederation which gave little power to a centralized government, he stated. The same problems existed then as now, such as surplus farm products with low prices, unequal distribution of wealth, and a pronounced opposition to a centralized government.

A call was issued in 1787 for a meeting in Philadelphia for the purpose of strengthening the articles. All but one of the colonies responded. In May, 1787, another meeting was called to which forty delegates responded. Quoting Lord James Bryce, the speaker said that this meeting was "the greatest aggregation of men ever gathered in one chamber."

It included such men as Governor Randolph, James Madison, Alexander Hamilton, General Washington, and Benjamin Franklin. One of the rules of order was that of secrecy and only after the last of these men had died were the seals broken to Madison's diary and Franklin's Journal revealing the work of that gathering. After the most heated arguments and a three-day seclusion, these men in Philadelphia gave to this country, Mr. Strehlow quoted William Gladstone, "the greatest instrument ever struck off by the hand of man" because it had come on the precipice of a great chaos.

The speaker illustrated how the Constitution has served through the years because the rights of power are invested in no one branch of government, but are divided between state and federal government; and the federal is again divided into three branches, so that a check was provided for on the powers on each department of government.

The talk by Mr. Strehlow was preceded by two instrumental numbers, "Enchanted Isle" and "On Wings of Song" by Althea Krah and Mary Ann Trace accompanied at the piano by Los Mae Brusewitz. The next meeting of the club will be held Friday evening, Dec. 9, at which time an illustrated talk will be given on "Christmas in Many Lands." The service committee called for contributions to be brought to the next meeting for Christmas boxes.

Mrs. Robert Black of Shiocton was the speaker at the Woman's Missionary society annual Thanksgiving service held in the Evangelical church Sunday evening. Mrs. Winfred Schmidt was chairman of the meeting. A vocal selection was given by a trio, Mrs. Schmidt, Mrs. Ed Wiese and Mrs. Ray Miller. A candlelight thank-offering service was led by Mrs. Arnold Ahman, Mrs. W. Schneider and Mrs. Schmidt, following the address of the evening.

Chilton — The County board concluded its fall session Tuesday. It had adjourned last week in order to permit the members who wished to do so, to go deer hunting.

All members of the county highway committee were reelected, including Peter Ivorsen, New Holstein; George Schroeder, town of Harrison; and A. N. Hertel, town of Chilton. The amount spent for aid to the blind, dependent children and for old age pensions was $39,340.82, the remainder being the cost of administering the department.

A report of the county line project was presented by County Agent A. L. McMahon, showing that during the last year 3,564 tons of lime had been produced and distributed to farmers in the county, for which $5,346 has been received.

The sum of $258.60 was appropriated to the town of Brothertown to reimburse it for improving some 52 graves of veterans of the War of 1812, who are buried there.

Salter, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Wolfe, Charles Warren, Chilton, and Mr. and Mrs. Warden Holbo of Beaver Dam, were at Sheboygan Falls Tuesday to attend the fortieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Salter. The latter are both former residents of Chilton. Mr. Salter being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Salter, and the latter the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Werner Schaefer. They were married at St. Mary's church in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nennig entertained the following guests at cards at their home Sunday evening: Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gruber, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wolfel, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gelling, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Gelling and Mrs. Theresa Nennig.

Hollywood—An ironic situation is developing in connection with the "series" pictures which are so popular just now. The Jones Family and Hardy Family offerings, and the Charlie Chan and Mr. Moto thrillers, carry with them two "musts" that give the producers sleepless nights. First, they must be made inexpensively in order to guarantee a fair profit and, second, they must feature the same cast, time after time, to be convincing. The first requisite is beginning to clash with the second. Inevitably, when a "series" star becomes popular, he wants a salary to match the size of his fan following. Warner Oland, as Charlie Chan, was dissatisfied with his wages and repeatedly insisted on big raises. Keye Luke, a fixture as his "Number One" son, demanded more money. And both of them, like the stars of the other series productions put their studios squarely over a barrel. If they were given material salary ups, the budget of their pictures would be zoomed out of all keeping with their Class B bookings; if they were not given the raises, they might walk out and necessitate an awkward change in the established cast. That, I think, is why Twentieth Century-Fox promptly dropped Keye Luke when Warner Oland died. As long as a change had to be made, why not make a clean sweep before Keye's salary demands reach an impossible high?

Every studio is discovering itself impaled on the horns of the dilemma. And I don't think that you will see many new series started in the future.

Odd-formation: Franciska Gaal's mother was already a grandmother when Franciska was born. One of Joe E. Brown's most prized possessions is a pair of Primo Carnera's boxing shoes—size seventeen.

and a half. Madeline Carroll "sets" her lipstick by wetting it with perfume. The lach strings on Leo Carrillo's ranch house are made of calves' tails—it's an old Mexican custom. Ninety-four families—including one named Cohen—have written to inform Gary Cooper that they have named spring-boys in his honor.

Warner Brothers answered Dick Powell's protest against single roles by casting him in "Always Leave Them Laughing"—in it he sings snatches from 38 songs, just ten more than you heard in Alexander's Rag Time Band. When a technician-director shouts for a "hily," he wants a color-test of the actors' makeup. The sound of an airplane motor is faked in the recording room by massaging a kettle-drum with an electric vibrator. Mischa Auer was once a political prisoner in Siberia.

A letter from a reader in Topelka who wants to know what has become of that grand actor, Hobart Bosworth. "And I'm glad he asked, for it is pleasant to write a paragraph about a completely happy man—and Hobart Bosworth, I believe, is entitled to that description. He is living in semi-retirement in the little town of Montrose, some twenty miles from Hollywood. For a few hours every morning, he works in his garden. The rest of the day—and these are his treasured hours—he spends in his library, reading. He has been a book collector for years—and I like to recall the motto printed on his bookplate. It's a quotation from "The Tempest": "For me, my library was dukedom enough." Hobart Bosworth is making it fit his life.

An amusing story from the "Union Pacific" location, way up there in Utah. Seems that Cecil B. DeMille had made Joel McCrea the goat of several practical jokes—and Joel determined on revenge. In getting it, he showed an intimate knowledge of human nature. "Listen," he said to the manager of the town cafe. "Don't tell anyone, but C. B. is looking for an original story idea—one without any of the frills that Hollywood writers use." For the next three days, DeMille couldn't step out of hotel room without being button-holed by an amateur writer with a great picture plot to tell.

In "Beauty For the Asking," Frieda Innescourt is wearing one of those strapples evening gowns—and every man on the set is racking his brain in the effort to find what keeps it in place. "You needn't ask," she admonished Donald Woods today. "For I won't tell." "You needn't tell," he retorted. "One good sneeze and we'll all find out!"

Tax 'Break' Urged
For Employers Who Share Their Profits

Washington—The senate profit-sharing committee heard a plea Tuesday that the federal government give a tax "break" to employers who share their profits with their employees.

J. R. Ramsey, youthful general manager of the Johnson Wax company, Racine, Wis., told the committee that the government "has tried all sorts of laws to make us employers behave and they have worked to some extent, but you will catch more flies with molasses than vinegar."

Ramsey, whose company paid out $202,000 in shared profits to employees last year, endorsed the principle of incentive taxation to encourage continuity of employment and profit-sharing. He said he believed efforts to encourage plant expansion in the same way would be less successful.

George T. Trundle, Jr., Cleveland, Ohio, engineer, told the committee that profit-sharing aids efficiency, lowers costs and prevents labor troubles. He said his company had installed 12 profit-sharing plans in various industries and all were working well.
